Beidleman Charges Fraud in Pennsylvania Race

VARE CANDIDATE ASSERTS HE WON GOVERNOR'S RACE

Legal Action Is Hinted as 'Angel' of Campaign Admits Handling Funds Without Keeping Record

CHARGE OF FRAUD HURLED AT MELLON

Beidleman Declares Ballot Boxes Were 'Stuffed' While Watcher Was Gone to Lunch.

BY RAYMOND CLAPPER.
Washington, June 21.—The charge that he had been counted out of the nomination for governor of Pennsylvania at the recent primary election was made to the senate campaign fund investigation committee Monday by E. E. Beidleman, the Vare candidate for governor.

Beidleman told the committee that if he could have had a recount in Pittsburgh he would have been elected. "One of my watchers went to lunch for 20 minutes at one polling place when 25 votes had been cast and when he came back 20 minutes later there were 438 votes in the ballot box," he said.

He made an effort to get the ballot boxes opened, but the technicalities of the law were such that this could not be done and he dropped the contest rather than make an expensive legal fight, he said.

Beidleman was running ahead in the count until on the third day after the election, when late returns from some of the Pittsburgh districts began to come in and this lead was rapidly wiped out and John S. Fisher, the Mellon candidate for governor, was declared nominated.

Punchot representatives previously had charged that the nomination was stolen from Beidleman. There have been rumors of a secret deal whereby the result was arranged so that the Mellon candidate would be nominated.

Questioned further, Beidleman said that he never had seen the tally sheets.

Reed then asked directly if he believed that a recount would show him to have been elected.

"I believe it would materially have increased my vote," Beidleman replied.

A suggestion of possible legal action growing out of the disclosures in the Pennsylvania primary investigation was made Monday for the first time.

Chairman Reed read from the Pennsylvania election laws to Albert M. Greenfield, so-called angel of the campaign to give William S. Vare the senatorial nomination, calling particular attention to the provision requiring that all political contributions be made through the treasurers of regularly organized campaign committees.

Greenfield had just testified under oath that large sums had been handled informally by himself and that no record had been kept.

"If I were prosecuting attorney up there in Philadelphia, you would

'Chocolate Soldier' Here Called Better Than on Broadway

SURPLUS IS SEEN FOR THREE YEARS IN U. S. TREASURY

President Coolidge Announces That Sum for This Year Will Be About $390,000,000.

NO TAX REDUCTION LIKELY, HE STATES

Declares Surplus for 1927 Easily Might Be Wiped Out by Falling Off in Business Activity.

(By Leased Wire to The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Washington, June 21.—Although announcing surplus far in excess of expectations, President Coolidge tonight warned that there is no certainty of another tax reduction at any early date.

Addressing the semi-annual meeting of the business organization of the government, the president disclosed the surplus for the fiscal year 1926, ending 10 days hence, will be about $390,000,000, that there is in prospect for the fiscal year 1927 a surplus of $185,000,000 and for the fiscal year 1928, a surplus of $20,000,000.

Big Reduction in Debt.

The president announced further that the books on June 30 will show a gross public debt amounting to approximately $19,080,000,000 which represents a reduction during the fiscal year 1926 of $836,193,387. This is an increase of about $100,000,000 over the reduction made in the fiscal year when $734,019,101 was cut from the gross debt.

The surplus for the current year has been anticipated, though it was much greater than either the budget estimates submitted to congress last December or the revised figures made public after the passage of the 1926 revenue act in March forecast. The official admission of a $185,000,000 surplus for the fiscal year 1927, and even a $20,000,000 surplus for 1928 came as a surprise as President Coolidge and treasury and budget officials have insisted heretofore that revenues and expenditures for 1927 would not do more than break even and that in fact a deficit was in prospect.

Least the estimates of the unexpected surplus should lead the public to believe that another tax reduction is definitely in sight the president insisted his characteristic caution and even pessimism into the situation by refusing to concede such a possibility at the present time. He asserted that a falling off in business activity easily might wipe out the prospective 1927 surplus and that as for 1928, he told department heads and bureau chiefs in his audience, frankly that

STARS AND CHORUS PUT SNAP IN SHOW

Work of Every Participant, From Financial Backers to Most Inconspicuous, Wins Praise.

BY RALPH T. JONES.

Atlanta's 1926 season of summer entertainment, her own productions of musical comedy and light opera, began at the Atlanta theater last night with a performance of "The Chocolate Soldier," so glorious, so delightful, that 2,000 citizens of Atlanta who were privileged to be in the first night audience are talking of nothing else this morning.

With Louise Hunter, Louis Templeman, Arthur Buckley, Lou Powers, Anne Yago, Mary Patterson, Francis Tyler as principals—with a chorus that could not be excelled in New York or any other center of things theatrical; with a ballet as beautiful as any ever staged; with stage settings and lighting effects that drew repeated bursts of spontaneous applause and with an orchestra that rendered the thrillingly tuneful Strauss score with fire and charm, it would be a sheer impossibility to seek a fault in the entire production.

The theater, too, with gorgeous silken Balkan rugs draped over walls, boxes and parterres, with a luxurious furnishing strange to the old play house, seemed like another place and, to add to the comfort, cool blasts of air from the refrigerating system kept the house at a comfortable temperature almost throughout.

It was a magnificent opening and promises a season of eight weeks of summer entertainment, that it is safe to say, could not be excelled anywhere on the map today.

Chorus Is Snappy.

In fact, it is literal and incontrovertible that a performance such as is given at the Atlanta this week by this organization, built upon a chorus and ballet ensemble of local

BREWSTER LEADS IN MAINE CONTEST

Thayer Trails in G. O. P. Gubernatorial Primary; Governor Christianson Ahead in Minnesota.

Portland, Maine, June 21.—(AP)—Governor Ralph O. Brewster gradually increased his lead over Major Arthur L. Thayer for the republican nomination for governor in today's primary as the latter returns came in tonight. In 224 precincts out of 633 in the state the vote was:

Brewster, 13,693; Thayer, 8,804.

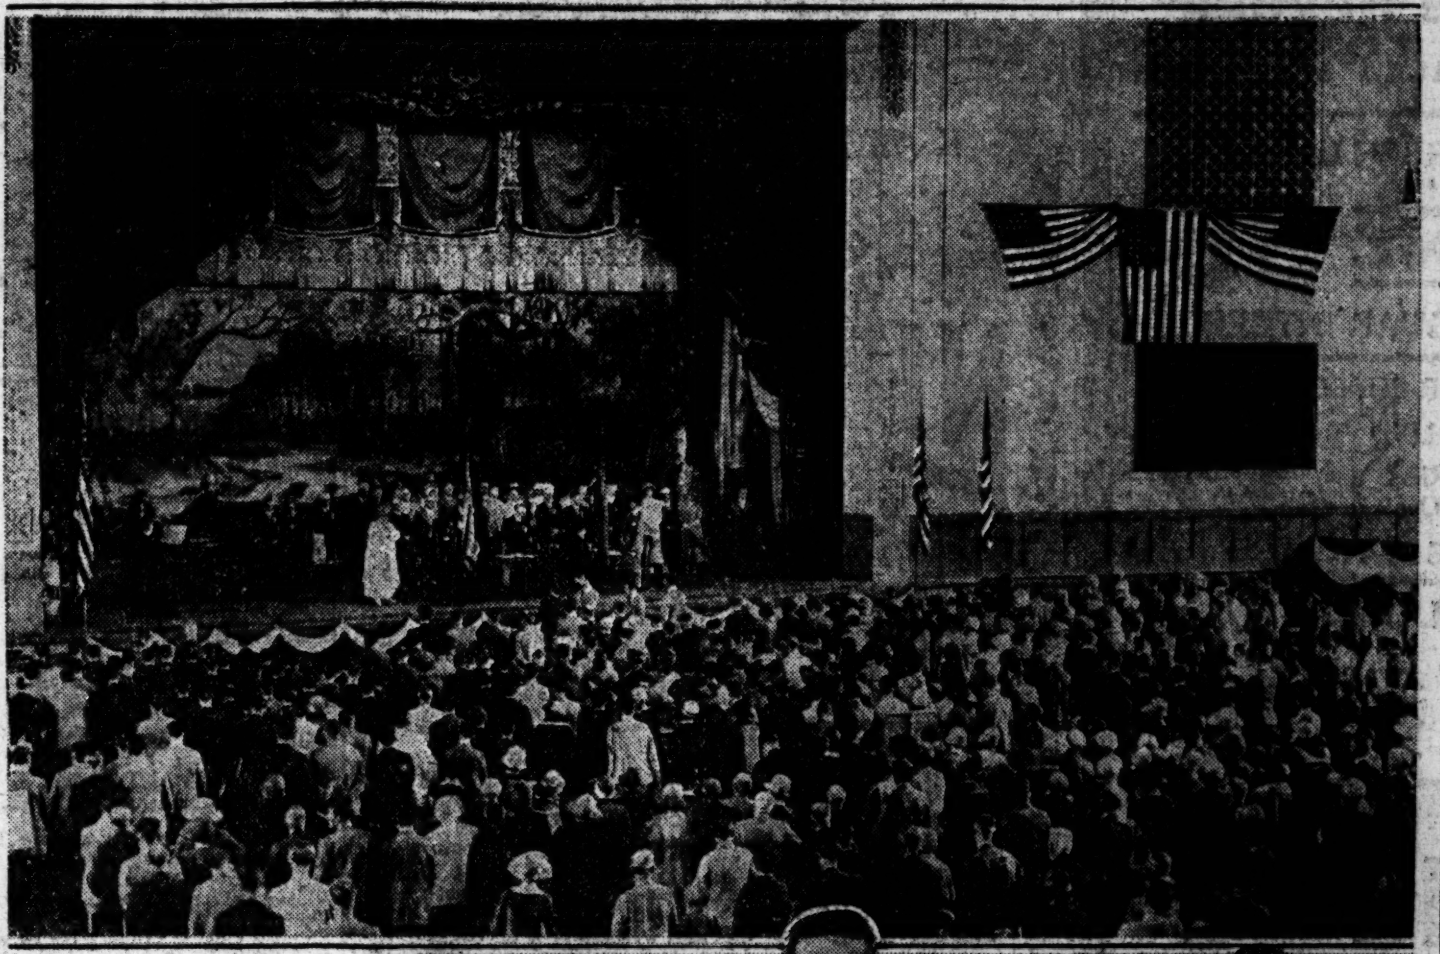

CHRISTIANSON LEADS LEACH IN MINNESOTA.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 21.—Governor Theodore Christianson was leading Mayor George E. Leach, of Minneapolis, for the republican nomination for governor in scattered returns as Minnesota's primary election Monday night.

Former United States Senator Magnus Johnson held a slight advantage over Tom Davis, Minneapolis attorney, in the returns on the farmer-labor race for governor. This vote, however, is mainly from precincts conceded favorable to Davis.

Representative Keller, who is serving his fourth term ran third, returns from nearly half the precincts in the district showed. Fred A. Snider, the "dry" candidate, was running second with Mass holding a two to one lead.

Schumann-Heink Lifts Golden Voice for War-Torn 'Boys'

Photos by J. T. Holloway

Madame Schumann-Heink, official "mother" of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, is shown on the stage of the Municipal auditorium Monday morning as she "Taps" in memory of those of her "boys" who were killed in the war. More than 3,000 veterans, their friends and relatives stood as "Mother" Schumann-Heink sang. Below are seen Judge Gaylen S. Young, fourth national junior vice commander, of Salt Lake, Utah; N. O. Isaacson, national executive committee member of the eighth district D. A. V.; Michael Aaronson, national chaplain of D. A. V., who was blinded during the war, and Walter Jasper, past commander of D. A. V.

COUNCIL AGREES TO PAY DAMAGES IN BOND DISPUTE

City of Atlanta To Settle With Kimball Operators for Sum of $25,000, Ending Suit.

Funds of the $8,000,000 bond issue for municipal improvements voted March 24 by Atlanta citizens will be available immediately, following action of city council and the aldermanic board Monday afternoon in approving a measure looking to settlement of an intervention suit filed by operators of the Kimball house and Louis Frankel, Pryor street merchant.

A compromise agreement was approved by the finance committee of city council, the bridge committee and the bond commission Monday, whereby Maynard & Jacobs, lessees of the Kimball house, will immediately withdraw their suit to prevent validation of bonds upon payment by the city of $23,000 and agreeing to meet certain conditions governing construction of the Central avenue and Pryor street viaducts.

Action of council is a virtual settlement of the entire litigation and as the time limit has expired for filing of any other court intervention money will be available immediately.

The compromise was arranged by J. Lawrence McCord, member of the bond commission, who declared that the agreement would remove the last obstacle to an immediate validation of bonds.

The agreement was between the city of Atlanta and Maynard & Jacobs, of the Kimball House Operating company; John W. Grant and Mrs. Annie Grant, Kimball house owners; Louis Frankel, South Pryor street merchant, and J. N. Hirsch.

Maynard & Jacobs will receive $25,000 as damages to their business which, they alleged, will result from construction of the viaducts.

Under agreement no work will be continued on the viaducts.

BEAVERS VOTED $8,655 BACK PAY

Council Overrides Mayor's Veto, Saying It Is Tired of Row With Police Chief.

Overriding the veto of Mayor Walter A. Sims, city council Monday voted to give Chief of Police James L. Beavers $8,655.50 salary due him for the 26 months he was ousted illegally by action of the police committee.

Council passed the paper at its last meeting, but Mayor Sims vetoed it. When council voted on the proposal to override the veto, only three nay—Councilmen White, Morris and Barrett—were registered.

The aldermanic board had only one vote—that of Alderman Claude Ashley—to support the stand of mayor.

When the measure was sounded again on council floor, a word battle was precipitated between the mayor's friends and those of Chief Beavers. Many of those who voted to override the mayor, did so, they explained, because they and the public are "tired of the fight with the police chief."

Atlanta Man Is Endorsed By Veterans

Bill Tate Groomed as Next Leader of Disabled Soldiers' Organization.

William E. Tate, of Atlanta, national liaison officer of the Disabled American Veterans, representing the fifth district, composed of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida and Tennessee, was unanimously endorsed as national commander of the D. A. V. at a meeting at the Ansley hotel Monday night in caucuses of the fifth district.

His name will be brought up at the business session this morning by his supporters.

"Bill" Tate, as he is known through the south, is one of the most active of all southerners in activities of the D. A. V. He was prime organizer and commander of the old Kennilwood D. A. V. chapter of Asheville, where he was in the hospital for three years.

Mr. Tate volunteered at the outbreak of the world war from South Carolina. He served in the Thirtieth division.

Since the world war Mr. Tate has been commander of the American Legion post at Asheville, N. C., state commander, department of U. C. D. A. V.; senior vice commander, Woodrow Wilson chapter, No. 1, D. A. V., Atlanta; golden rodent, Atlanta Department No. 40, Trench Hats, and general chairman, D. A. V. convention committee, Atlanta.

CARSWELL'S NAME ENTERED IN RACE

Friends Are Reported To Have Paid His Entrance Fee for State Campaign.

Macon, Ga., June 21.—(AP)—Friends of George H. Carswell, Irwinton, former president of the state senate and for many years prominent in the legislature, have paid his entrance fee and qualified him in the race for governor, according to word received from Irwinton late this afternoon.

Mr. Carswell could not be reached here tonight for a statement but it has been known for some time that he had been considering making the race.

Telegrams similar to the dispatch from Macon concerning qualifications of George Carswell as candidate for governor were received Monday night by Atlanta friends of the Wilkinson county man but no entrance fee or letter placing him in the race was received by Mrs. Bessie Anderson, secretary of the state democratic executive committee, before her office closed Monday afternoon. Under the rules of the committee, a candidate must send his own personal letter to the secretary announcing a candidacy. The

MONSTER CROWDS THRILL AS OPERA STARS OPEN MEET

President Coolidge Sends Message as Sixth Convention of Disabled Men Gets Under Way.

LEGION COMMANDER PLEADS FOR PEACE

Battered Heroes of France Expected To March in Parade Today as One of Meeting's High Lights.

Approximately 6,000 Disabled Veterans of the World War will march through Atlanta's streets this morning in the grand parade of the organization's sixth annual convention. The procession will move at 10 o'clock and will be led by Major General Johnson Hagood, commanding the fourth corps area.

The convention, which has assembled thousands of veterans in Atlanta from all sections of the United States, got under way Monday morning with a meeting in the municipal auditorium, which was featured by an address of John R. McQuigg, of Cleveland, Ohio, national commander of the American Legion. Madame Ernestine Schumann-Heink, former opera star, was present and sang "for her boys." She gave "Taps" as a feature of her part on the program.

Veterans were told by McQuigg that "America is doing more for its wounded and disabled right now than any country has ever done, but, by the grace of God, the end is not yet."

"We will never be quiet until every disabled service man has the ease and comfort that his service to his nation warranted," he said.

The speaker made a strong appeal for law and order, declaring that in recent years there has been a general letting down of morals of American people.

Coolidge Sends Message.

Another high light came Monday morning when assurance was given in a message from President Coolidge that "whatever properly may be done to restore the disabled veterans to their former places in the community or to alleviate their condition" would be done by the United States government.

"Our government takes pride," said the president in his message, "as well as satisfaction, in fulfilling the duty owed to those who sacrificed their health and strength to uphold the national honor in our participation in the world war."

Today will be one of the biggest days of the entire convention. No event is considered more important than the annual grand parade, which will be as colorful as it will be impressive and unique. Many of the marchers are blind; many are crippled, while all show signs of suffering. But every man of them, who is physically able, will "fall in" again.

The Good Old Summer Time

You may have failed to take notice that Spring is gone and Summer is here; we've had our longest day and shortest night—if that interests you, and some people say the new moon is "wet."

One thing you should not overlook—these are wonderful mornings to sit on the front porch and read The Constitution. You will find it already delivered before you are up, and it carries all the worth-while news of the day.

Every merchant in Atlanta who has a worth-while offering to make to the people of Atlanta and suburbs advertises in The Constitution because he knows it goes into over 32,000 homes in Atlanta and suburbs in the morning when people have time to read, and when they really do their reading.

ATLANTA'S DEATH IN RIVER DECLARED TO BE ACCIDENTAL

Thomas C. Hollingsworth, 54, of 1326 Wilmont drive, Atlanta, came to his death by accidental drowning in the Chattahoochee river Sunday afternoon, according to a verdict rendered by a coroner's jury in Milton county Monday.

Hollingsworth was drowned while fishing Sunday with two friends and the body was recovered after an all-night search. The inquiry was conducted by L. E. Jones, Milton county coroner.

News of the drowning reached members of the family late Sunday afternoon and his son, with several friends, went to the river and began a search. The body was finally brought to the surface with a drag net. Members of the family believe he was seized with the cramp while swimming, as he is said to have been an expert swimmer.

Funeral service for Mr. Hollingsworth will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock from the East Side Baptist church. The Rev. E. C. Cowan will officiate and interment will be in East View cemetery.

Mr. Hollingsworth is survived by his widow; two sons, William E. and John H. Hollingsworth; three brothers, J. L., H. P. and L. E. Hollingsworth, and five sisters, Mrs. W. J. Shorkey, Mrs. Y. R. Norris, Mrs. J. E. Bates, Miss Willie Mae Hollingsworth and Miss Irene Hollingsworth. The drowning occurred while the party was said to have been fishing in the Chattahoochee river between Roswell and Norcross.

McGRATH REELECTED BY SECRETARY CLUB

J. P. McGrath, president of the Secretaries' Club of Atlanta, was re-elected to the presidency of the organization at the annual outing Monday night at Cascade terrace.

Other officers elected were: Fred Schaefer, vice president, and George Deibert, secretary-treasurer. Mr. McGrath is secretary of the Georgia Manufacturers' association.

Mr. Schaefer, who succeeds E. N. Brown, is secretary of the Atlanta Safety council.

An elaborate banquet preceded the business meeting of the club. A diversified entertainment program featured the occasion. Music during the banquet and dancing was furnished by the Troubadours, one of Atlanta's popular orchestras, under the leadership of Tom Fagan.

Little Miss Freida Sullivan, one of the best-known juvenile dancers in the south, demonstrated the Charleston and several novelty dances as well as singing. Mrs. Dwight Bayler, well-known contralto, sang, accompanied by Mrs. J. Kell Martin. "Cousin" Fred Houser, Atlanta's famed convention secretary, led in community singing.

B. S. Barker, executive vice president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce and secretary of the Southern Commercial Secretaries' association, delivered a brief address on the work of the organization secretary.

The secretary is the key man in each of our civic, commercial and industrial organizations. Mr. Barker declared, "and there is no group in Atlanta that commands a wider influence than the Secretaries' club. This organization—which is typical of Atlanta's spirit, and so the only body of its kind in the south—holds within itself a vast power for good in the upbuilding of Atlanta."

We hope 500,000 within a few years, and the secretaries of our community organizations will be influential factors in bringing about this development."

High tribute was paid to Mr. Brown, the retiring secretary, for his long and faithful service to the club.

G. O. P. COMMITTEE MEETING IN TEXAS ENDS IN DISORDER

San Antonio, Texas, June 21.—(AP) A meeting of the Bexar county republican executive committee ended in disorder here tonight after supporters of Harry M. Wurzbach, Texas' only republican congressman, had won a close victory over the regular state organization faction, headed by National Committeeman R. B. Crenker.

The meeting was closed only after 14 peace officers forcibly adjourned it while several fist fights were in progress. A revolver was drawn during the fracas.

A riot call brought officers to the scene. Wurzbach had just risen from his seat after the first blows had been struck, when a revolver was drawn. The weapon was knocked from the hand of a delegate and disappeared through a window of the courthouse, where the meeting was held.

"It was headed my way long enough for me to look down the wrong end," the congressman said. Some twenty delegates to the meeting to make arrangements for the party's first primary in this county suffered injuries. One man struck Dr. J. A. Albright, Bexar county campaign manager for Wurzbach, breaking his spectacles.

Mr. Wurzbach served three terms in the legislature from Dodge county. He served as speaker pro tem of the 1924 legislature and was named as chairman of the house rules committee in 1925. He is well known as a lawyer. He will oppose Attorney General George M. Napier, who paid his entrance fee last week and qualified for renomination.

Mr. Miller served three terms in the legislature from Dodge county. He served as speaker pro tem of the 1924 legislature and was named as chairman of the house rules committee in 1925. He is well known as a lawyer. He will oppose Attorney General George M. Napier, who paid his entrance fee last week and qualified for renomination.

GEORGE, HINES, LAND AND MILLNER QUALIFY

United States Senator Walter F. George, Judge James E. Hines, of the supreme court; Port E. Land, state superintendent of schools, and J. Herman Miller, legislator from Dodge, qualified as candidates to succeed themselves when each paid entrance fees Monday to Mrs. Bessie Anderson, secretary of the state democratic executive committee.

Senator George paid $250 to make the race, this being the assessment fixed against candidates for the United States senate by the state committee. The other two officials paid $150 each.

Senator George has no opposition as yet although Judge Richard Russell, of the supreme court, has the matter of entering this race under consideration. Judge Hines is as yet unopposed. Superintendent Land is opposed by N. H. Ballard, of Brunswick, former state superintendent of schools, who qualified as a candidate last week. Entry books will be closed at noon Wednesday, according to the rules of the state committee.

J. Herman Miller, representative in the legislature from Dodge county, paid his entrance fee of $150 to the secretary of the state democratic executive committee Monday and qualified as a candidate for attorney general in the approaching primary. Mr. Miller went to the capitol in person Monday afternoon and paid his fee to Mrs. Bessie Anderson, secretary of the committee.

Mr. Miller served three terms in the legislature from Dodge county. He served as speaker pro tem of the 1924 legislature and was named as chairman of the house rules committee in 1925. He is well known as a lawyer. He will oppose Attorney General George M. Napier, who paid his entrance fee last week and qualified for renomination.

Rome Aviator Plans New Route To Circle Globe

(Copyright, 1926, by The Constitution and The Chicago Tribune.)

Rome, June 21.—Major Francesco de Pinedo, who made a successful flight to Australia and back last year, will begin August 1 the first attempt at a world flight of 43,470 miles, of which 8,604 are over the southern Pacific ocean, where no airplane has ever crossed before.

The first jump will be across the Atlantic route of Commander Ramon France. Then he will follow the coast of South America to Buenos Aires, crossing to Santiago, Chile, and Valparaiso, and then in jumps of the Pacific by the following hops: John Ferdinand Isle, Sala y Gomez, Easter island, Tahiti, Samoa, Kermadec islands, and Wellington, New Zealand. From here he will go to Australia along the eastern coast, crossing the Philippine archipelago, then to Korea, Peking, and Hankow, and overland to Calcutta, over the Indian peninsula to Karachi and around Africa, returning to Gibraltar.

Major de Pinedo will use a hydroplane equipped with two 550-horsepower motors, capable of carrying 3,000 kilos (about 720 gallons) of fuel and capable of a continuous flight for 24 hours.

Fred McNamara, 13, of 93 Atlanta avenue, was treated at Grady hospital late Monday afternoon for a smashed left hand he told doctors he received in a boxing match. Young McNamara did not tell doctors any details of the accident and police have no record of the incident.

McNARY WOULD EXTEND TRAINING FOR WAR VETERANS

Washington, June 21.—(AP)—Disabled world war veterans would be eligible to receive vocational training after next June 30, the date on which the present aid would cease, under an amendment to the veterans' act proposed today by Senator McNary, republican, Oregon. The period in which aid might be given would be extended indefinitely.

The amendment also would authorize the director of the veterans' bureau to furnish vocational training to any eligible veteran who had been unable to enter training prior to June 30, 1925.

CHOCOLATE SOLDIER IS HIGHLY PRAISED

young folks and topped with a perfect list of stars, who, many of them, have won a second home for themselves by their work here in the past, could not be produced in any professional theater on Broadway. For these people have the enthusiasm of youth. They have better voices than can be found in any chorus on the professional stage. They give of their best, every minute they are on the stage and in this they are pleasantly different from the professional performer usually found in over-worked Broadway choruses.

There were, before last night, a few of us who were expecting a great performance, inasmuch as we had been privileged to hear some of the rehearsals. But, no matter how enthusiastic the rehearsals had made us, that faded into merely minor anticipations when the full glory of the production, with the lovely new costumes, the artistic stage settings and the delicate perfection of lighting effects dawned in her duet with Buckley, the tenor, upon us last night. And when principals and chorus really let themselves go and sang with all the power of their gifted throats it was simply a case of transportation to a dream of how an exquisite light opera, a comedy gem should be produced but, hitherto, has never been except in the dreams of a few eternal optimists.

Louise Hunter, prima donna who has won, by her own dainty personality, her own lovely voice and her own winsomeness the title of "Atlanta's Sweetheart," never sang better and never looked lovelier than she did last night. From that first thrilling solo number, "My Hero," in the first act through to the end, the liquid purity of her voice filled the theater with its glory and brought encore after encore to prolong the enjoyment. In her comedy work, so light that it is like a fairy idea of whimsy, she was perfect.

Mary Patterson Acclaimed.

Mary Patterson, the second soprano, won a personal victory all her own last night, discovering to those of us who didn't know before a pure and sweet soprano of thrilling power. Lou Powers, comedian of the company, is the same uncontrollably funny Powers of old. The book of "The Chocolate Soldier" does not give the comedian the opportunity that many of the eight to be given during the summer, but he had enough to do last night to make certain that the comedy of the year's productions is in the hands of a master comedian.

Great as the principals are, however, it must be reserved for the chorus and ballet ensembles to say that they made for us a wonderful show. It is a remarkable thing to consider that here in Atlanta a group of fifty or sixty young men and women can be gathered together capable of giving such a performance. Any city of this size which can do such a thing is worthy of a leading spot on the theatrical map of the world.

Robert's Barr Dances.

Atlantians will remember for a long time that ballet at the opening of the third act. It was exquisite in beauty and formed a stage picture touched with the genius of the artist. Robert's Barr, as premiere danseuse, and Leonard White and Franciska Mueller, in a duet dance duet, compared with some of the greatest professional dancers of the day in the finish of their work.

In giving praise to the chorus and the ballet we are, of course, directly praising the musical director and producer. Charles Berton is musical director and conductor of the orchestra this year. He is a master of his work, and Atlanta music lovers who revel in the enjoyment of the season, will realize in full just how great a part of the perfection of the production flows from the magic tip of his baton.

Lew Morton, the producer who has worked for months on rehearsals and who has watched every moment and every detail of the work, is a musician. Only perfect equipment for such a job, linked with limitless patience and the genius of the born instructor, could have built such a performance as that last night.

To all, in fact, from Howard Chandler Christy, president of the Municipal Opera Association, and its directors, whose public spirit make possible such superb productions for Atlanta, through the executive officers, including General Manager Lewis Haase, through the principals, the technicians who work behind the scenes; the scene painters; costumers; chorus; ballet and orchestra; and everybody, Atlanta is due this morning a rising vote of deepest thanks.

That thanks to them all, from us all, was symbolically expressed last night when flowers in such profusion that they could not be catalogued were passed over the footlights at the end of the performance. In a quiet reality, the flowers of Atlanta's appreciation will go to them all throughout the entire summer.

There are to be seven more performances of "The Chocolate Soldier," one each night this week at 8:30 and two matinees, Saturday and Wednesday, at 2:30. The Municipal Opera Association has made possible prices of admission that represent only a fractional part of the real value of the entertainment each ticket represents. It is certain that each performance this week, like that of last night will be given to a packed house. And it is just that it should be so. For nobody can find a vacant spot to sit or stand in the theater, should miss a performance like this.

Audience Is Distinguished.

The audience last night, by the way, included a large percentage of everybody of social, business and professional prominence in the city. It was, on a smaller scale, a repetition of a typical first night audience at an Atlanta grand opera opening.

But don't think there is anything highbrow about this "light opera." It is nothing more nor less than the great musical comedy produced here, never seen elsewhere.

The cast of the production, including the entire ensemble, follows:

350,000 ATTEND 'MASS OF ANGELS'

Chicago, June 21.—(AP)—Pilgrims from all the earth met on the shores of Lake Michigan today in the most impressive demonstration of religious faith ever witnessed in America if not in the world.

Defying threatening skies and a wind which approached a gale, more than 200,000 worshippers pressed into the great memorial stadium extended along a half-mile of lake front for the celebration of solemn pontifical mass by John Cardinal Bonzano, the legate of Pope Pius XI. to the 28th international eucharistic congress. Police estimated that 350,000 persons thronged the area of two square miles of which the stadium is the center.

A choir of 60,000 school children, clad in white and papal gold and seated in the vast green mall between the towering concrete stands, sang the responses to the altar.

The sermon of the mass was delivered by Archbishop Curley, of Baltimore.

After the pontifical blessing which ended the mass, thousands of devotees poured into the field from the stands and pressed forward through police guard to the space before the great outdoor altar. Solidly banking the hundred-foot stairway leading to the sanctuary, thousands knelt in prayer before the tabernacle of the eucharist, rendering it impossible to continue with the speaking program which had been arranged to follow the rites of worship.

So intent were the fervent throngs of approaching as nearly as possible to the altar that the managers of the ceremonies were forced to appeal to the multitude over the public address system to leave the field at once. In the same manner, a warning was sounded that the wooden elevation on which the altar stood was endangered by the thousands which mounted the steps.

The crowds moved out in solemn order, only disappointed that they could not kneel individually before the altar crucifix to pour out their prayerful adoration of the eucharist. More than two hours after the mass ended, 20,000 or 30,000 people still were in the stands, some still pressing forward toward the altar.

Thousands Came Early.

As early as 5 o'clock this morning, thousands were in their places in the stands, and at 10 o'clock, the scheduled starting time, the sea of humanity which surged about all sides of the already packed stadium, blocked the path of the ecclesiastical procession for almost an hour, delaying the mass and taxing the efforts of the police to open a narrow lane for the prelates.

As the priests, bishops and cardinals passed through the fervent multitude outside the field, hundreds dropped to their knees for the blessing of the legate. Inside, the procession was greeted first with an enthusiastic outburst of handclapping and then with reverent silence and prayer.

Their brilliant robes whirled about in the strong wind, the 12 cardinals ascended the red-carpeted steps of the sanctuary—more than 100 in number—to red velvet and plush thrones set in long diagonals at either side of the altar.

Cardinal Bonzano was escorted to a throne even more splendid, and higher, at the right of the altar. Here he vested for the mass, donning a set of hand-made silk ceremonial vestments presented to the congress by a Chinese delegation as the gift of a group of Shanghai women and children.

The singing of the mass lasted an hour and a half, after which the procession again formed for the exit of the higher prelates, the several thou-send priests remaining in their places about the foot of the altar. Again the procession was halted by the pressure of the throngs about the clergy gate, and it was more than an hour before the last of the purple-robed bishops left the sanctuary.

Light Rain Falls.

At the beginning of the mass a light rain began to fall, continuing for 15 minutes, but before Archbishop Curley began his sermon the sun appeared through rifts in the still darkened sky. The wind subsided for a time, but soon rose again to a gale which officials feared might occasion a mishap to one of the officiating clergy on the high elevation of the sanctuary. A large canvas protective screen was hastily brought up to the windward side of the altar but the gale was so swift that it was virtually impossible to hold the shield erect.

After the stadium session, the congress program was continued in the sectional meeting of the various national groups. The session of the English-speaking group at the Colliseum was the largest on the afternoon and evening program. More than a thousand priests were participants in the Latin section which assembled in the auditorium on the municipal pier, which extends a mile into Lake Michigan. Here all speeches and discussion was in the formal church Latin. The afternoon session of the Italian group addressed by Federal Judge Martin T. Mantone, of New York; Dr. Francis Eustace Fronscek, commissioner of health in Buffalo, N. Y.; the Rev. Callistus Stohle, of Jeannette, Pa.; the Rev. Daniel M. Gorman, bishop of Boise, Idaho, and the very Rev. Joseph Rhode, rector of the old mission, Santa Barbara, Cal.

"Prayer is man's first duty to his maker, and his chief resource and consolation in distress," Judge Mantone said.

"Prayer, for the majority of people, means petition. The prayers of savages in a great many cases are requests for material prosperity or gain. While this feature is the predominant one in all primitive ritual, it is hardly necessary for me to remind you that it is also a prominent characteristic of all higher religions. The truly civilized being prays for material things with a spiritual motive."

Globe-Circlers To Use Special Plane to Berlin

BY LINTON WELLS
(Special correspondent, The Constitution and North American Newspaper Alliance.)
Aboard S. S. Aquitania, (By Radio) June 21.—With 430 miles yet to go to complete the first lap of our globe circling trip, the probabilities are that we will arrive at Cherbourg two hours behind our schedule.
While we are absolutely certain to make connections at Berlin tomorrow night, the margin allowed for our connection at Paris is so small that we must resort to the use of a special plane, to get to Berlin on schedule time.
We have had no word as yet from our Paris representative respecting our request for a plane to take us direct to Berlin from Cherbourg, but undoubtedly it will be ready at the hour and place specified.
Evans and I are in excellent condition, but impatient to leave the Aquitania and get started on those laps of the trip which are certain to provide a modicum of excitement. We have been preparing for six days for the strenuous hours ahead of us, anticipating no rest until we board the trans-Siberian railroad at Omsk on Friday. Then the most dangerous part of our trip will be behind us and barring a train breakdown, we are certain to connect with the S. S. Asia at Yokohama.

Doctors Vote on Prohibition Turning It Down by 81 to 14

Atlanta physicians are, by an overwhelming majority, dissatisfied with present conditions under the prohibition law, it became known here Monday. While 14 local doctors in answering a recent questionnaire said that conditions were satisfactory, 81 branded them as unsatisfactory.
These figures were disclosed here after the report of a nationwide investigation was conducted by Medical Economics, a leading publication of the medical profession, published at Rutherford, N. J.
Four questions were asked of 13,000 doctors in all states of the union. The questionnaires were sent to all doctors in the states of Maine, South Carolina and Oregon and to all doctors in the leading textile cities of New England, the steel cities of Youngstown and Canton, Ohio, and all in West Virginia for its activity as a coal mining region.
Atlanta physicians, answering the question, "What effect has prohibition had on moral conditions?" answered that the effect had been bad, according to 72 of them, while 40 voted that the effect had been good.
To the question, "Have financial conditions improved?" only 39 Atlanta doctors answered "yes," while as many as 61 answered "no."
The fourth question was: "What noticeable influence has prohibition had on general health?" To this, only 39 Atlanta doctors believed the effect to be good, while as many as 70 said it was bad.
Totalling replies from the 13,000 physicians all over the country, it was shown that a majority have reported prohibition as having a bad moral influence on their communities; a majority believe the financial welfare of the people has been improved by the dry law; a large majority do not see any effect on general health conditions, and an overwhelming majority are dissatisfied with the present prohibition conditions.
The proportion of doctors dissatisfied to those satisfied with conditions is over 5 to 1 in favor of those dissatisfied.
Georgia, as a state, shows a preponderant vote that the moral influence of prohibition has been bad; a slight majority that prohibition has improved the financial condition of their patients; a preponderant vote that prohibition has not affected the health of their patients and an overwhelming dissatisfaction with prohibition conditions.

SAVANNAH MAN HEADS KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Savannah, Ga., June 21.—(P)—Julius C. Sipple, sheriff of the city court of Savannah, was today elected grand chancellor of the grand lodge Knights of Pythias of Georgia. Mr. Sipple left the city tonight to attend the meeting of the Royal Arcanum which meets in West Baden, Ind., and upon his return the committees will be appointed.

The other officers elected by the grand lodge were: Vice chancellor, B. H. Jones, of Waynesboro; prelate, R. Denmark, Glendale; keeper of the records and seal, William H. Leopold, Savannah; master of the exchequer, R. C. Norman, Washington; master-at-arms, G. A. Rogers, Pelham; inner guard, J. C. Greer, Atlanta; outer guard, C. C. Walla, Ellenville.

The Pythians assembled this morning at Tybee island for their 42nd annual convention. The opening exercises were presided over by W. G. Sullivan, past grand chancellor. The invocation was by Dr. A. J. Bowers, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Reformation, Savannah.

Thomas Gamble, mayor of Tybee, welcomed the knights in behalf of the town of Tybee. In response to Mayor Gamble's address was given by Will G. Moore, grand chancellor. Jacob Gazan then welcomed the visitors in behalf of the knights of Savannah, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Reformation, Savannah. Miller Bell of Milledgeville, responded to Mrs. Gussie Brown, grand chief, gave an address of welcome on behalf of the Pythian Sisters which was responded to by Mrs. Marion Woodbury of Augusta. This was followed by the benediction by Rev. Charles G. Earnest, pastor of the Grace Methodist church.

NEW RATES TO AID SOUTHERN PORTS

Washington, June 21.—(P)—Shipping board officials see in the future the drive of cargo shipping lines operating out of south Atlantic ports, to wrest from the grip of the great north Atlantic shipping centers some part of the export cargoes originating in central freight association territory.
Under a new agreement approved last week by the board, five Atlantic carrier ship lines revised their understanding as to ocean rates so as to permit central territory shippers to get the benefit of whatever differentials in rail rates there may be in favor of southern ports. Previously the southern lines had considered the through rates on this traffic and equalized against the New York ocean rate; but the rail differentials enjoyed by ports south of New York to and including Norfolk operated against the more southerly outlets for export business.
The shipping board expressed its approval of wider distribution of export business among American ports in 1924. The case involved was the port differentials matter, and the board said:
"Terminating the record in this case is the thought advanced primarily by counsel for the port of New York authority and the New England ports that rail-and-water rates from central freight association territory to foreign destinations should be equalized through all these ports. Without attempting to pass upon this matter, which is manifestly beyond the scope of the board's jurisdiction, the board can only state that in the great public interest it would seem obvious that rate structures should be made as to permit the flow of traffic to pass through as many ports as the economies of transportation and distribution will allow.
The southern lines joining in the new conference agreement were the American Palmetto, Atlantic and Gulf, Henry Nanning, Strachan, Trosil, Plant and Lafonta, and J. A. Von Dohlen.

KEPION, GIBBS AND UPSHAW RUN

Miss Bessie Kempton, a member of the Fulton county delegation in the Georgia legislature for the past term, and Mrs. E. N. Gibbs, prominent in civic circles of Atlanta, Monday paid entrance fees of $100 each, thus qualifying as candidates for the legislature.

Miss Kempton is seeking reelection and Mrs. Gibbs will offer to succeed Miss Kempton.
Congressman W. D. Upshaw qualified to succeed himself as representative of the fifth district, paying his entrance fee in person. Mayor Walter A. Sims and L. J. Steele, of Decatur, have qualified as opponents of Mr. Upshaw.

SAVANNAH MAN HEADS KNIGHTS OF PYTHIAS

Savannah, Ga., June 21.—(P)—Julius C. Sipple, sheriff of the city court of Savannah, was today elected grand chancellor of the grand lodge Knights of Pythias of Georgia. Mr. Sipple left the city tonight to attend the meeting of the Royal Arcanum which meets in West Baden, Ind., and upon his return the committees will be appointed.

The other officers elected by the grand lodge were: Vice chancellor, B. H. Jones, of Waynesboro; prelate, R. Denmark, Glendale; keeper of the records and seal, William H. Leopold, Savannah; master of the exchequer, R. C. Norman, Washington; master-at-arms, G. A. Rogers, Pelham; inner guard, J. C. Greer, Atlanta; outer guard, C. C. Walla, Ellenville.

The Pythians assembled this morning at Tybee island for their 42nd annual convention. The opening exercises were presided over by W. G. Sullivan, past grand chancellor. The invocation was by Dr. A. J. Bowers, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Reformation, Savannah.

Thomas Gamble, mayor of Tybee, welcomed the knights in behalf of the town of Tybee. In response to Mayor Gamble's address was given by Will G. Moore, grand chancellor. Jacob Gazan then welcomed the visitors in behalf of the knights of Savannah, pastor of the Lutheran Church of the Reformation, Savannah. Miller Bell of Milledgeville, responded to Mrs. Gussie Brown, grand chief, gave an address of welcome on behalf of the Pythian Sisters which was responded to by Mrs. Marion Woodbury of Augusta. This was followed by the benediction by Rev. Charles G. Earnest, pastor of the Grace Methodist church.

City To Bid Lacy God-Speed At Lions' Banquet Tonight

Tonight at the Ansley hotel Atlanta will bid Godspeed to Dr. Ben R. Lacy, Jr. The banquet will be given by the Atlanta Lions club, of which organization Dr. Lacy has been an active member during his life in this city, and the occasion will take the form of a tribute to him as pastor of Central Presbyterian church and an expression of best wishes for his future as president of Union Theological seminary at Richmond, Va. Dr. Lacy resigned his pastorate here to accept the presidency of the famous Virginia institution some weeks ago and will leave to take up his new duties in the near future.

The dinner tonight will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock and will be given either in the main dining room or on the roof of the Ansley, depending upon the size of the crowd.

Dr. Lacy during his years of service to his congregation and to Atlanta, has become one of the most popular citizens of the city, and it will be as both pastor and citizen that speakers will express their appreciation for his services, their regret at his departure and their wishes for his happiness and continued success in the future.

Speakers, with the exception of Dr. Lacy himself and possibly one other, will be limited to four minutes, in which they must say all they desire. Ministers from practically every denomination in the city will be present and will tell how their particular denomination has benefited through their association with Dr. Lacy. Governor Clifford Walker and Mayor Walter A. Sims will speak on behalf of the city.

Press Huddleston, chairman of the special committee in charge of the affair, will be toastmaster, while other members of the committee, Victor F. Todd and M. O. Eiford, will act as his aides.

Richard Orator.
Ben A. Ruffin, of Richmond, third vice president of Lions International, will make a brief address as orator of the evening, extending a welcome to Dr. Lacy on behalf of the city of Richmond and inviting him to affiliate with the Richmond Lions club when he reaches that city. Richmond's mayor, J. Fulmer Bright, officially designated Mr. Ruffin to extend the city's welcome to Dr. Lacy.

Mr. Ruffin is a prominent Richmond business man. He has announced as his subject for tonight, "Lion to Lion—Welcome to Richmond." Dr. Lacy himself will be the valedictorian and will respond to speeches made by his friends.

Ladies have been invited to the dinner and many have secured tickets. There will be a program of music by a special orchestra, as well as solos by Ernest Allen and Mrs. Samuel Metcalf, accompanied by J. Gordon Moore. There will also be a quartet.

The menu will be featured by fried chicken, family style, and "lion" steak, a new dish for Atlanta, brought here through the good offices of Lions International. It is said to be a delightful dish.

Huddleston is Chairman.
Press Huddleston, chairman, Monday emphasized the fact that the meeting is not to be one of sadness, all present having agreed to hide their natural regret at Dr. Lacy's removal from Atlanta, but it is to be "an evening of congenial good fellowship, to send Dr. Lacy away with the knowledge that he has left behind him a host of loyal friends."

The Atlanta Presbyterian Ministers' association at its regular meeting Monday morning adopted resolutions offered by Dr. Richard Orme Flinn expressing regret at Dr. Lacy's departure. The resolutions, adopted unanimously by rising vote, after referring to his seven years of work in Atlanta, declare that his absence from the councils of the association will be deeply felt and greatly regretted.

This Way Lies True Comfort!

Comfort—and ease of mind!

Just the right heat always, in your home. Yet you are free from furnace-tending and ash-handling. And more!—you are free from worry about the fire. You know that, with no attention from you, your heating is taken care of—faithfully, unerringly. When your home is Kleen-Heet-ed with oil.

This confident assurance, so prized by Kleen-Heet owners, rests soundly on the recognized engineering superiority of the Kleen-Heet oil burner.

For Kleen-Heet engineers have developed instant efficiency—the secret of perfect, automatic heating! The moment the thermostat calls for heat, Kleen-Heet responds—100 per cent. So it is but natural that Kleen-Heet should give unmatched comfort—and economy.

It is because of this engineering superiority—and a six-year record of unflinching performance—that Kleen-Heet is so outstandingly the choice of the well informed.

LINE FOR BUILDING VOTED ON PIEDMONT

Council Monday afternoon voted to establish a 40-foot building line on Piedmont avenue between Ponce de Leon avenue and East Tenth street, despite the fact that the Georgia supreme court several weeks ago held that the city zoning ordinance was invalid and could not be enforced.

The line will be measured from the center of Piedmont avenue, according to the measure. Council also voted to change the name of Hood street from Eugene street to Rawson street, to Eugene street. It was pointed out that Hood street is a continuation of Eugene street and that the change is made necessary on account of the new numbering system being carried forward under the city planning commission.

Both these papers will be submitted to the mayor today for his signature.

BOND FIGHT ENDS WITH AGREEMENT

in on viaducts in the vicinity of the Kimball house before July 1, 1927; the city agreed with Mr. and Mrs. Grant under a "moral obligation" to remove the "unsightly" steel girders from the Whitehall street viaduct at the earliest possible date and to rebuild or remodel the viaduct so that it will be supported on pillars.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant under the compromise have agreed that the Kimball house lease shall end on July 1, 1927, and that after that date the firm shall have the option of operating the hostelry as tenants at will.

The city and Mr. Grant agreed that should work begin in July 1, 1927, the city will pay him rent to that date to move him to another location without charge.

The suit to prevent the validation of bonds, filed in Fulton superior court by Maynard & Jacobs and Louis Franklin, was aimed directly at the bond issue for construction of the viaducts. It attacked the validity of the bonds on the grounds that the election was irregular and consequently all other issues in the $3,000,000 program were in liquidation.

Judge John D. Humphries, following hearing, overruled the claims of the intervenors and declared the election valid. The case was taken Saturday by way of a bill of exceptions to the supreme court.

SURPLUS IS SEEN IN U. S. TREASURY

the outlook today "is not encouraging, and that the possible surplus of $200,000,000 is negligible and may easily be converted into a deficit."

Urges "Constructive Economy." Using "constructive economy" as his slogan the president said that a further appreciable reduction in annual expenditures of the federal government cannot be expected but that the chief hope lies in debt reduction and a consequent lessening of interest charges.

As a new measure of economy President Coolidge proposed a reduction in payrolls under a scheme by which $20,000,000 is to be saved during the next 12 months. The details of the plan, which were outlined by Director of the Budget H. M. Lord in an address following that of the president, call for the organization of the "two per cent personnel club." It is not contemplated to discharge any employees but to omit filling many vacancies as they occur, thus resulting in saving at least two per cent of the annual salary cost. This should be possible, General Lord asserted, in view of the fact that the number of vacancies filled through the civil service system annually represents about nine per cent of the total employees.

Budget Achievements.

Reviewing the achievements of the federal government during five years of the operation of the budget system, President Coolidge said that since June 30, 1921, the public debt has been cut nearly four and one-quarter billions in principal and $212,000,000 in annual interest charges; that expenditures have been reduced by nearly two billion dollars annually, or from $5,535,000,000 in the fiscal year 1921 to about $3,620,000,000 for the current year, and that federal taxation has been reduced from $54.14 per capita to $27.28, not including cuts under the new revenue act.

The president said he had requested the budget director to hold the departmental estimates for the fiscal year 1928 to $3,200,000,000, exclusive of the postal service and tax refunds. He fixed the limit of actual expenditures, including tax refunds and certain indeterminate items, not exclusive of the postal service at $3,000,000,000.

State and County Costs. Comparing the steady reduction in federal expenditures to the rapidly mounting costs of state, county and municipal governments, President Coolidge said that there is cause for concern in the situation. He pointed out that while federal government reduced its expenditures by more than $2,000,000,000 from 1921 to 1925, costs of state and local governments showed an increase of more than $4,000,000,000.

The federal expenditure constituted nearly 60 per cent of total governmental expense in 1921, but only 25 per cent in 1925. In making known new estimates as to surplus both President Coolidge and General Lord described the increased totals to greater tax receipts than anticipated together with continued economy and the holding down of appropriations by congress.

The official estimate of a surplus of $390,000,000 for the current fiscal year was made, it was learned, by Acting Secretary of the Treasury Winslow, on the strength of telegraphic reports from collectors of internal revenue indicating that receipts from the June 15 income tax payments would aggregate between $435,000,000 and $440,000,000 or upwards of $65,000,000 in excess of last year.

Revenues Cut. The budget bureau last December forecast a surplus of only $202,041,794, and thereafter congress, in the new revenue law reduced revenues for this period by $208,200,000, which, if the original estimate had been correct, would have left a surplus of only $53,841,795.

Similarly a surplus of $185,000,000 now looks up for the fiscal year, 1927, although last December's estimate on the basis of the old law pointed to a surplus of $330,507,594.56 from which congress took $307,500,000 in tax reductions which would have appeared to leave a surplus in sight of only $22,997,594.56. On the basis of revised estimates made public just after the passage of the 1926 revenue act in March, a deficit of $11,000,000 was indicated for the fiscal year 1927.

President Coolidge said it would be impossible to determine when taxes may again be reduced until the law has been passed July 1st, and

New Promises Survey Of Atlanta Postoffice Needs for New Building

Atlanta Committee Gets Promise of Postmaster General To Investigate Local Conditions.

Washington, D. C., June 21.—(Special).—Either Postmaster General Harry S. New or First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett will visit Atlanta in the near future to personally investigate the needs of that city for a new central postoffice building.

This became known here Monday after a special committee of Atlanta business men, named by Mayor Walter A. Sims, had appeared before officials of the postoffice department and treasury department and strongly presented the necessity for such a building to accommodate the tremendously increased business of the southern metropolis.

Mr. New, after the presentation, promised the Atlanta committee that a "special head" of the postoffice department would be sent to Atlanta in the near future and make a close personal investigation of conditions there, preparatory to making recommendations for federal building expenditures to the next congress, as provided in the recently passed public buildings bill.

The Atlanta committee, consisting of John K. Otley, Frank Neely and Fred B. Wilson, were accompanied to the office of Mr. New by Senator Walter S. George. There was no formal hearing, the data carried by the Atlanta committee, which was remarkably clear and concise, being presented by Mr. New and Mr. Bartlett during a brief, but intensely businesslike conference.

At the treasury department the Atlantans were greeted by Assistant Secretary Dewey. Secretary Mellon was not in the city, but he had designated Mr. Dewey to hear the claims of the Georgia city. Mr. Dewey was much impressed with the necessities for expansion of the Atlanta offices and while no definite promise was made, it was thought almost certain that a treasury official will accompany the postoffice department official on the inspection trip to Atlanta.

The committee also called at the commerce department and conferred with Assistant Secretary Drake, lieutenant to Secretary Hoover, regarding the probability that Atlanta will soon have air service deliveries on a route extending from Boston, New York and Philadelphia, to the Georgia capital. Mr. Drake assured them that the department is ready to undertake lighting the air route for mail delivery as soon as congress appropriates the necessary funds. They also conferred with Warren Glover, second lieutenant postmaster general, who has charge of air mails. The delegation was informed that the postoffice and commerce departments intend to designate the route as a No. 1 route.

The Atlanta delegation expressed themselves as highly pleased with the results of the conferences with the government officials and expressed confidence that, once the situation at the Atlanta postoffice is seen and understood by the proper authorities, that appropriation of funds for a new building will be promptly made.

Charts were presented showing the population of Atlanta and its distribution, postoffice receipts, number of federal employees, amount of mail handled in the Atlanta office, number of telephones, postage increase, clearing house receipts, and building permits all over a period of 15 years.

Mr. Otley left Monday night for New York, where he will join Mrs. Otley, and Mr. Neely and Mr. Smith returned to Atlanta.

GIRL RUNS AWAY FROM HOME HERE TO "GET A JOB"

Parents of Gertrude Bowman, 14, of 1433 May avenue, East Atlanta, have requested the police to aid in the search for the girl, who disappeared Monday morning.

Gertrude was graduated from John B. Gordon school early in June and several days ago told her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Bowman, she intended to run away and "get her a job."

Monday she left with her suitcase packed. She had light hair and eyes, and left home wearing a brown dress.

If I had a private garage

I'd also have a good flashlight. I'd use it to light my path from the house; to find the key-hole; and when I put the car away at night, I'd go through the same process—backwards—if you get what I mean.

As a matter of fact, I think I'd have one flashlight for the house and another in the door-pocket of the car. Wherever I wanted to change darkness to daylight, my flashlight would be ready, and on the job.

Of course, they would be genuine Evereadys! —(adv.)

Reinforce Glands To Keep Young Says Scientist

DR. ARNOLD LORAND, of Austria, says in his book, "Old Age Deferred," in speaking of the glands: "We must insist upon the reinforcement of their functions if changed by age or disease by means of extracts obtained from the similar organs of healthy young animals."

Glandogen, the new scientific gland tonic prepared in tablet form, provides a simple method of taking glandular treatment.

Hundreds of men and women who are weak, worn-out and run-down, are taking Glandogen to awaken the devitalized glands, so they may continue their normal function of supplying the vital glandular secretions so necessary to physical energy and perfect health. Accept no substitutes. Insist on genuine Glandogen, the original gland tonic. At All Jacobs' Drug Stores and all leading druggists.

PLANS ADVANCED FOR GREAT PARK

Establishment of a great historical park on the present site of the Peachtree creek disposal plant became more probable in the opinion of advocates of the measure Monday when the suit to prevent sale of bonds from the city's $3,000,000 issue was amicably settled, opening the way for the survey of land for the new park and consummation of preliminary plans.

Council was to have been asked Monday to vote $25,000 to begin at once, under expert engineers of the geodetic survey, a triangular survey of Atlanta and its environs as the first step in a great sewerage improvement for Atlanta, but the true which has existed for the past several days developed Monday into a permanent case. This promised early acquisition of bond funds for all projects and council was not asked for the fund for the new park.

The triangular survey now will be made, it was pointed out, to determine in a scientific manner the slope and the grade of Atlanta, thus permitting engineers to lay sewers and drainage in an intelligent manner instead of by "guess work" as has been done heretofore, city construction chiefs pointed out. This is the only reasonable way to plan for the Atlanta of tomorrow, it was said.

Withdrawal of the suit against the bonds is expected to take place as soon as Mayor Walter A. Sims affixes his signature to the resolutions of settlement passed Monday by council.

It is said that $500,000 of the $2,000,000 sewer bond money will be available from sale of bonds by July 1, and that this will provide ample funds to push the new park survey in accordance with plans of the bond commission and council.

The new park will be located, according to plans of bond commission and sewer committee leaders, on the site now occupied by the Peachtree creek disposal plant, which is on the site of some of the fiercest and most memorable engagements of the Battle of Atlanta. Plans contemplate combination of the Peachtree creek and Proctor creek disposal plants on the banks of the Chattahoochee river in one great plant to care for a city with a population of 500,000 persons. This would care for the 32,000,000 gallons of sewage which daily is thrown to these two plants and of say 100,000,000 gallons daily which is thrown untreated into Peachtree creek and the 10,000,000 gallons which the Proctor plant is unable to handle. The new plant will be constructed on the banks of the Chattahoochee a unit large enough to care for Atlanta's needs for the next 50 years, and to ask the city to turn over for park purposes the 125-acre site of the Peachtree plant.

City council, park and civic leaders have urged this course and have pointed to the fact that the city is turning untreated daily 2,000,000 gallons of sewage and refuse into Peachtree creek, thus adding to the contamination caused by Druid Hills and Decatur, which already pour filth and waste into the stream.

The park proposal, advanced by Henderson Hallman, has received unanimous approval. Mr. Hallman is secretary of the bond commission.

A fund of $1,000 will be spent in an effort to protect Atlanta from construction of undesirable buildings in select communities," according to the measure. Mr. Russell several weeks ago proposed to invoke the city nuisance laws in an effort to protect residents, but abandoned it after conference with Mr. Mayson in which it was pointed out that there was a serious doubt as to whether this could "get the desired results."

PROPOSED TRAFFIC COURT FOR ATLANTA WILL BE REVISED

Proposal for Atlanta's automatic police court for traffic law offenders will be amended in order to make it very explicit in its provisions and will be brought back to council perfected, according to a motion to refer it back to the ordinance committee passed Monday afternoon.

Councilman W. E. Saunders, of the 12th, who sponsored and is the father of the measure, declared that there are several other things which may be included in the proposal and asked that it go back to the ordinance committee for further consideration.

The paper provided that minor infractions of the traffic laws be dismissed when "patrons" of the automatic court appeared at the police station and posted fines with the police lieutenant then on duty. The first offense would be punishable by a fine of $5; the second by $11; the third by $16 and so on. The paper was designed to relieve congestion in the recorder's court by the minor traffic cases from this court and putting them under the jurisdiction of the automatic tribunal. Friends of the measure declare it is favored unanimously by council and that it is sent back only for perfection.

Council adopted the adverse report of the ordinance committee of council which declined to recommend that all motorists driving over red lights of the synchronized traffic control system be charged with reckless driving. The committee took the stand that this matter should be left to the discretion of the judge. In some cases it was held it would be reckless driving; in others it should not be so construed.

CITY ZONING LAW WILL GET STUDY

Council Monday authorized the ordinance committee and City Attorney to study the city zoning law.

This was on motion of Councilman Horace Russell, of the ninth ward, chairman of the ordinance committee. LIGHT OPERA SEASON.

The opening performance last evening of Atlanta's second season of light opera gave every indication that this annual event will become as fixed in the cultural life of the city as the annual season of grand opera.

The audience that packed the Atlanta theater showed its keen appreciation of the artists, and all members of the organization. The chorus did splendid work, and the feature members showed their marvelous professional talents—so much so that the season will, as it should, draw visitors from all over the south, for Broadway does not provide a similar entertainment of greater merit.

"The Chocolate Soldier" was an excellent selection for the season's opening, as its music, dance numbers and comedy features are all of a colorful, inviting and fascinating nature, pleasing to the most exacting tastes, and an especially splendid vehicle for the various stars to impress their individual talents.

It is hoped the citizens of Atlanta will heartily encourage and support this light opera season. Last year it was not a financial success, the guarantors having to provide a deficit. It is not promoted to make money but to provide summer entertainment of a high order, and to attract to Atlanta music lovers from all sections of the south who now look upon this city as the center of cultural activities in this section of the country.

At the same time, while the financial consideration is not a controlling feature, the light opera season ought to close without a deficit—and it will, despite the low prices that are charged, in order that it may be enjoyed by all the people. If the citizens of Atlanta will support the undertaking as they should and as it deserves to be supported.

AS TO COMPENSATION.

In the message of good cheer sent by the president and read at the initial meeting of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War, in convention in Atlanta Monday, there were evidences of an intention on the part of the administration to push relief measures so that there may be a more equitable equalization of compensation.

From the address of John R. McGuire, of Cleveland, who is national commander of the American Legion, the following is quoted:

"America is doing more for its wounded and disabled right now than any country has ever done, but by the grace of God, the end is not yet. We will never be quiet until every disabled service man has the ease and comfort that his service to his nation warrants."

The convention has important work ahead of it, and that of taking steps for a complete revision of the compensation schedules is perhaps the most important of all. There are veterans completely disabled who are not compensated sufficiently to keep the wolf from the door. There are others who are not entirely incapacitated and who have earning ability who are richly compensated. The point is, this nation must do its full duty, and in doing it there must be no discriminations or inequalities if it is humanly possible to avoid them. The words of Commander McGuire ring true. We should never rest until "every disabled service man has the ease and comfort that his services to his nation warrants."

TEXTILE MEETING.

Atlanta extends a cordial welcome to the members of the Cotton Manufacturers' Association of Georgia, now in convention in this city, with President George S. Harris presiding.

This state is making marvelous strides in the textile industry, and the southeast is today easily the outstanding textile section of the world. The favorable climate, stability and standardization of labor, ample hydro-electric power—these are contributing factors.

Georgia should, and in time no doubt will, become as outstanding in cotton manufacturing as any of its sister states. Certainly no state has more advantages or more inviting features.

A MARVELOUS RECORD.

Following is the leading paragraph in a story and forceful editorial in The Charlotte (N. C.) Observer entitled "Highways—How North Carolina Builds and Pays":

"The fiscal year ends June 30. At that time the state highway commission will have paid all interest charges on bond issues; it will apply $500,000 to the sinking fund; it will set aside $250,000 to meet the overhead expenses at Raleigh, and it will then have a minimum of $8,000,000 to be applied to the maintenance and construction fund. This means that the tax on gasoline and automobile license pays for building and maintaining highways in the state, pays the interest on the bonds, leaves $500,000 for the payment on principal and $250,000 for meeting expenses, after all of which the highway commission find itself in possession of a surplus of $8,000,000. The people who use the highways are paying for them—and do not know they are doing it."

This is a remarkable showing and illustrates beyond all controversy the wisdom of capitalizing the gasoline taxes for the building of a coordinated through-state highway system. It is a fact, known of all men, that North Carolina is one of the richest and most prosperous states in America. The value of far lands is higher than in any other state in the south, and yet there is not a natural advantage enjoyed by North Carolina that Georgia does not possess, and Georgia has many advantages that North Carolina has not. Her progressive policy as to highways and schools is the foundation of North Carolina's prosperity, and everybody knows it. There is not an influential newspaper in that state that does not vigorously back up the state's highway and school policy. There is scarcely an upstanding citizen who does not do so. The facts as given by The Charlotte Observer explains the reason. There is no getting around them.

POWER OF PUBLICITY.

Commending the "Forward Atlanta" campaign and commenting upon the magnificent results that have thus far accrued, with 48 firms and additional pay rolls of $2,500,000 a year brought to the city as a direct result of the advertising movement, The Manufacturers' Record says:

"Surely, Atlanta has thus demonstrated the tremendous power of publicity, and the money which its people are expending in this campaign will be returned to them many-fold through increased business and increased prosperity throughout all the ramifications of the city's life."

That the force of advertising, when properly and vigorously conducted, is not confined to commercial business, as, for instance, the movement of merchandise or real estate or anything offered for sale, is too well established to admit of argument. There is no power so invincible as that of correct publicity and that municipalities will do more of it, that cities will "sell themselves" to the outside public through publicity, that the "Atlanta way" will become more generally utilized is guaranteed by the magnificent success Atlanta is making in her own campaign.

As The Record suggests, Atlanta has indeed and in truth "demonstrated the tremendous power of publicity."

HONORING DR. LACY.

At a banquet this evening sponsored by the Atlanta Lions club, affectionate farewells will be said to Rev. Dr. R. L. Lacy, Jr., who is leaving this city shortly to take up the teaching of theology in a neighboring state.

There is no citizen of Atlanta more generally loved than Dr. Lacy. His activity in civic affairs, his public spirit, and his vigorous crusading for the material as well as the spiritual uplift of the people has made him a citizen of wide influence and great usefulness.

The good wishes of a great host of Atlanta friends will follow Dr. Lacy in his new field. He is a good man—strong and virile and red-blooded. We shall miss him.

Just From Georgia

BY FRANK L. STANTON

The Old Home.

Dear childhood home, thy pines are still the same.

I come again, their cooling shade to claim;

And wand'ring here alone review this scene with thee.

Where once I strove I strove thy green.

As I retrace each hill and vale and tree,

My heart a moment leaves its woe

And springs of peace half to the surface rise.

And youth's fond feet stands in my drooping eyes.

I bow before thy heart, O sacred shrine,

And mourn those joys that no more shall be mine.

And look for happy faces once again;

And list for cherished voices, but in vain.

And hush greetings with their tender smiles

Yet I enjoyed along these silent aisles;

But hush instead the wind low, murm'ring, say:

"These all in days long gone have passed away."

What to my heart, dear spot, is now this scene?

What to my heart the beauties of this scene?

Within this turf my youthful comrades lie.

And time hath pierced my soul with grief,

O, who can life enjoy when friends are dead?

When faded hopes along our pathway lead,

Sweet memories but return to bring us woe.

O'er wished joys the heart no more shall know.

Cooperation of Public Essential for Efficiency

Editor Constitution: I have just read your interesting editorial in this morning's Constitution, entitled "Atlanta's Big Problem."

There was one appalling number of fatalities occurring in Atlanta, which are mounting by leaps and bounds, I have felt constrained to make a few suggestions in an effort to satisfy myself as to the probable cause of the distressing situation outlined in your recent editorial, "Atlanta's Big Problem."

Standing at Five Points for an interval of 35 minutes between the hours of 10 and 11 p. m. on Thursday, June 14, I observed the following traffic violations.

Thirty-one cars passed without a rear light burning, 23 cars passed with but one headlight burning, and nine cars passed with no lights whatever, either on the front or on the rear.

The above tabulation records a total of 63 violations in 35 minutes during the so-called quiet period at this intersection.

There was one traffic officer on duty at this point and he was doing everything possible in line with his duty, directing attention in at least two directions to these infractions of the law.

Cooperation from the public is absolutely necessary if we expect to secure a complete solution of the law and reduce accidents to a minimum.

This morning's press contains an Associated Press dispatch account of a collision between two Pennsylvania railroad passenger trains, in which 15 people were killed and 14 others injured, caused given as failure of engineer to observe signals.

What happens when no signals are exhibited?

R. Lee Moore Opposes Congressman Edwards In September Primary

Statesboro, Ga., June 21.—(AP)—R. Lee Moore, former congressman of the first congressional district, has issued his formal announcement that he will not be a candidate for the national house of representatives at the September primary.

He will oppose Representative Charles G. Edwards, incumbent.

A letter sent to Chairman Kennedy of the Democratic Executive Committee for this district, Mr. Moore stated he would be a candidate, and agreed to abide by all rules of the committee as adopted at a recent meeting. He inclosed the required fee of $10 for Chatham county.

The race for congress in the first district this year will be an expensive one, compared to what the cost has been in the past. The congressional campaign must face an expense of about $500 in fees, required by the various counties to defray the cost of the primary.

Bulloch county on Saturday filed its fee at $25, and Jenkins county the fee was fixed at $50.

He first danced with a lord's daughter, next he tackled an opera prima donna, who is on her way to renew her strength and inspiration under native Italian skies.

There is a mystery woman aboard. She has a smile by herself in the dining room and has her back turned to the rest of us. When she rises

Leaders to Continue Fight To Change Name of Buckhead

Efforts to change the name of Buckhead to Northwood or some other name as chosen by residents of the section will be continued with renewed vigor, according to a communication to The Constitution from W. H. Wynne, Jr., of the Shadowlawn Improvement club.

At the last meeting of the Fulton county board of commissioners, Chairman Paul S. Etheridge pointed out to the commission had the authority to change the name of the district in the county, and to adjust boundary lines but had no authority whatever to change the name of a certain section in the county.

Several prominent speakers and citizens appeared before the body and opposed the change, basing opposition on sentiment and reviewing the historical background which the name of Buckhead suggested.

The advocates set out that the residents of the section have been greatly hampered and inconvenienced in the delivery of express, mail and merchandise because of the duplication of the name of the district in the county, and that the residents of the section have been greatly hampered and inconvenienced in the delivery of express, mail and merchandise because of the duplication of the name of the district in the county.

Miss Mary Dickerson Is Speaker at Round-Table Conference of Georgia Manufacturers.

Cotton manufacturers of Georgia are beginning to reap benefits of health campaigns, intelligently planned and carefully consummated, according to Miss Mary Dickerson, one of the principal speakers at a round table conference Monday night at the Atlanta Hotel. The conference was the 20th annual convention of the Georgia Manufacturers' Association of Georgia. More than 50 leading cotton mill executives attended the conference and additional delegates will arrive today to attend the formal session.

BIEDELMAN CHARGES FRAUD IN PRIMARY

make your explanation to a jury," declared Reed, who as prosecuting attorney in Jackson county, Missouri, years ago obtained 255 convictions out of 287 cases tried.

"It isn't fair for you to say we were doing anything that wasn't right," objected Greenfield.

"I think you were," Reed retorted. Greenfield, apparently much distressed, attempted to explain and Reed interrupted him.

"I want you to be up on the situation," Greenfield protested.

"I'm up on the situation, all right," Reed said.

New Note Introduced. This suggestion of possible violations of the election laws introduced a new note into the senate investigation.

Subsequent witnesses became even more reluctant to talk. All seemed afflicted with poor memories. Politicians who know hundreds by their first names could hardly recall ever having talked to anyone.

Harry Baker, now secretary of the republican state committee, E. J. Biedelman, the Vire candidate for governor, but when Senator La Follette asked what he talked about at Mellon's house, Baker said he couldn't remember.

Could Not Remember. "Can't you remember anything at all that was said?" La Follette insisted.

"If I could, I'd tell you," Baker replied.

"Your brain just stops functioning when you think about that doesn't it?" Reed suggested.

"Did you talk about the weather?" Senator King of Utah asked.

"You're making a joke of it," Baker retorted.

"You're the one that's making a joke of this," King said. "Do you remember in what room the conference took place?" Reed asked.

"I do," ejaculated Reed in confusion. "I don't know," Baker replied.

"From that time on your mind was a blank," Reed ventured.

"The thought never came into my mind," Baker said.

"I thought if I said that I had given $125,000 it might be considered boastful on my part," he said.

"I had no intention of concealing anything from the committee," Reed said.

"I don't care to haggle about it," Reed said. He then questioned Greenfield in greatest detail about his money transactions during the campaign, and repeatedly lectured the witness for failing to answer the questions.

"Why did you make contributions in cash?" Reed asked.

"It seemed to be the custom in Philadelphia," Greenfield answered to the amusement of the spectators.

"We didn't want our opponents to know who was contributing," John S. Fisher, successful candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, testified he had represented the New York Central interests in Pennsylvania for several years but is now relinquishing that position. He said he did not know of the huge contributions made to his campaign by Joseph R. Grundy of the Pennsylvania Manufact-

First Aid Stations For Disabled Veterans

First aid stations for the Disabled American Veterans have been established at room 420 of the Ansley hotel and room 130 of the Piedmont hotel. They are equipped for every medical aid.

Dr. J. A. McAllister, general chairman, and Dr. R. C. Eve, chairman of the American Legion and Spanish American War Veterans are in charge of the stations.

Members of the association until he read of the senate committee's testimony.

"Weren't you considerably astonished?" Reed asked.

"I'd rather you wouldn't ask me that," Fisher replied.

Fisher under questioning told of a conference of Pennsylvania leaders held in New York early in the campaign attended by himself and W. L. Mellon.

"Why did you have to hold a conference on Pennsylvania politics in New York city?" King asked.

"We didn't want any publicity," Fisher answered.

W. C. T. U. Heads Called. Just before adjournment for the day, the W. C. T. U. witnesses were called to be questioned regarding the $250,000 fund raised by that organization to assist Governor Pinchot in a law enforcement campaign.

Mrs. Maude Seymour testified that so far as she knew a detailed accounting of the money had been used to apprehend dry law violators.

"By what authority can the funds of a private organization be used in enforcing the law?" Senator Goff, West Virginia, asked.

"I never gave any thought to that," Mrs. Seymour said. She had heard, she added, that during the recent campaign, Governor Pinchot suggested that W. C. T. U. chapters throughout the state set up headquarters and assist him in his campaign for the senatorial nomination and send the bills to his campaign committee.

Mrs. Ella M. George, president of the state W. C. T. U., also was called to the stand. Questioning of these two witnesses will be continued Tuesday.

Former Football Halfback Inherits Million Dollars

Boston, June 21.—A $30-a-week insurance collector went shopping here Monday, bought a $100,000 house, five automobiles and booked passage for a "round the world" tour.

The shopper was Cornelius Sullivan, Jr., of Newton, one-time Georgetown quarterback, who had inherited a million dollars overnight.

Reed questioned several witnesses regarding reports that the Vire forces had offered $150,000 to Francis X. O'Connor to induce him to withdraw as a candidate for congress and to abandon his support of the Pepper-Fisher ticket. But none of the witnesses could remember anything except vague rumors.

Greenfield was called back by the committee because testimony of William S. Vire contradicted the statement Greenfield made when he was on the stand the first time that he had given $50,000 to the Vire campaign. Greenfield admitted Monday that he had stood sponsor for $125,000.

"I thought if I said that I had given $125,000 it might be considered boastful on my part," he said.

"I had no intention of concealing anything from the committee," Reed said.

GRAND JURY TO INSIST ON COLVIN'S REMOVAL

Joliet, Ill., June 21.—(AP)—C. H. Jenkins, director of the Illinois department of public welfare, tomorrow will be asked by the reconvicted Will county grand jury here, why Will H. Colvin, head of the pardon and parole board has not been relieved of duty in compliance with the recommendations made by the grand jury several weeks ago.

The jury's recommendation was made after an investigation of conditions at the state penitentiary here.

State Attorney Hinman Rehn indicated that Governor Len Small also may be recalled to the witness stand to be asked why the resignation of Colvin had not been accepted.

The grand jury was summoned to investigate prison pardon and parole conditions following the slaying of Deputy Warden Peter N. Klein by seven escaping convicts.

DISABLED VETS PARADE TODAY

Those who can not walk will be carried through the streets in automobiles.

Mayor Walter Sims has requested all business houses to close this morning from 9 to 12 o'clock in order that employees who wish may take part in the parade.

Following the parade veterans will be entertained at luncheon on the roof garden of the Ansley. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon the D. A. V. golf tournament will begin at East Lake Country club. Other forms of amusement and entertainment have been arranged for the veterans who do not play golf.

The second business session will begin at 2 o'clock at the auditorium.

The famous Shrine band will give a concert at 7:30 o'clock at the auditorium, which will be followed by a special exhibition by the Shrine drill team.

The "Trench Rats" will assemble at midnight for a varied program of dance numbers and musical features, bringing the second day of the convention to a close.

Registration lists, swelled to more than 5,000 Monday morning, mounted steadily throughout the day as veterans poured into the city from every corner of the United States.

When the session Monday morning was called to order by John W. Mahan, national commander, more than 2,000 Disabled Veterans were in their seats. Hundreds of friends and relatives attended the meeting.

Madame Schumann-Heink, official "mother" of the veterans, sang "Taps" at the end of a silent moment dedicated to the memories of those who lost their lives in the world war. While the disabled veterans and their friends bowed in silent prayer wreaths were placed on the tombs of unknown soldiers in all the allied countries. At the conclusion of the session the great opera star sang "The Star Spangled Banner."

Before the opening of the convention the Minneapolis post drum and bugle corps furnished music, and during the program John Scharr's band played.

Rabbi Michael Aaronson, national chaplain, prayed for elimination of "fear, hate and malice from the earth." Rabbi Aaronson, prominent-

Identified with the Jewish Union College of Cincinnati, was blinded overseas during the war.

Delegates Welcomed.

Preceding the feature address of the day by McQuigg, addresses of welcome were made by Attorney General George M. Napier, speaking for Governor Walker, who is out of the state; Mayor Walter Sims, Asa Warren Candler, vice chairman of the citizens' committee, and J. K. Finch, commander of the local Woodrow Wilson post of D. A. V. Response was made in talks by John W. Scott, national senior vice commander;

James T. Brown, Grayland H. Young and Harry Wentworth, national junior vice commanders.

H. L. Grayson spoke for the Spanish-American War Veterans and Thomas J. Scott for the Grand Army of the Republic.

The program at Lakewood park began with a barbecue, after which the veterans were given the run of the park. Band concerts, dancing and special vaudeville exhibitions were features of the afternoon and night at the park.

Probably the greatest interest is centered on the parade this morning. All plans and arrangements had been made Monday night, the parade committee announced. The procession will be led by 40 blind veterans, whose footsteps will be guided by little girls. Next will come veterans who lost a leg or arm in the war. Following this detachment will come the main body of delegates in district divisions.

Figures That Point Toward ATLANTA

What country raises the greatest number of cattle? India.
The most pigs? China.
The most horses? Russia.
The most sheep? Australia.
The most donkeys? Spain.
The most mules? United States.

It is of interest to Atlantans to realize that in the only type of live stock in which the United States ranks first—mules—Atlanta is now the leading market of the world.

With motor power rapidly displacing horses and mules everywhere, it is even more significant that Atlanta is the acknowledged center for the distribution of motor trucks, tractors and cars of all types, for the entire South.

In motors, in live stock, in every Southeastern industry, The Citizens and Southern Bank is called upon constantly for active banking co-operation. Its resources of more than seventy million dollars furnish striking assurance that no sound business requirements will find this bank wanting.

Three Hurlers Used By Locals in Effort To Check Visitors

Rogers Gets Good Start But Weakens in Sixth Inning and Barons Score Two Runs — Love Takes Up Mound Work and is Relieved by McLaughlin.

BY H. C. HAMILTON.

The Birmingham Barons, featuring the very wild, but extremely effective Pitcher Hadley, whipped the Crackers, 5 to 2, Monday in the first of a four-game series at Spiller's park. And during the progress of the contest fans who attended the pastime were favored with some of the weirdest baseball it could be possible to imagine.

Umpire Clark, who officiated behind the plate, not only tossed John Brock out of the game for some uncomplimentary remarks, but he also became the first umpire within the writer's recollection to register a base hit for a player who had popped a fly ball to an infielder. Joe Schepner was the lucky individual and Bert Niehaus the unfortunate catcher of the pop fly. Clark claimed that as Schepner swung at the ball, Niehaus, who had relieved Brock, tipped the batter's bat and interfered with his swing. Niehaus did not protest vehemently, so the charge may have been correct, but Clark's umpiring throughout the contest was not what it might have been.

John Brock's exit was a pathetic contribution to the game. John asked Mr. Clark if he might examine the ball Mr. Hadley was tossing about and drew a negative answer, but Hadley assuming that the request had been granted, tossed one up. Brock, realizing that time had not been called, immediately took a swipe at the ball and smashed it down the third base line—a sure hit if Wilbur Good, who was on first at the time, had not been bewildered at the situation and neglected to run to second. He was forced to the inning.

That was the beginning of Mr. Brock's exit. He trotted back to the dugout, donned his armor and trotted to his position behind the plate. He and Niehaus were both there for a few warm-up tosses from Tom Rogers and one of them got away. It almost hit Mr. Clark. Certainly it was not intentional. Mr. Brock scarcely could be accused of letting the ball pass when he knew Mr. Clark's wrath descended upon him. Brock, who was waiting to the clubhouse. Niehaus took up the catching burden.

Tom Rogers, who started for the Crackers, was most effective except for one inning, the sixth, when the visitors got to him for a pair of count-ers. Love yielded one run and McLaughlin, who pitched the final inning, was welcomed to the box by Chapman, visiting second sacker, who belted a long one into the negro bleachers in left field. He was touched for three hits and two runs.

As a matter of fact, the Crackers ordinarily would win such a ball game, for Hadley, in spite of the fact that he was very stingy with his hits, was most liberal with bases on balls. He issued eight of them and socked Al Niehaus in the back to put another man on. Those nine men, however, combined with five safe hits, could only get a pair across the plate.

Rogers was touched for a hit in the first inning by Gandel, but that gentleman obligingly strolled too far from the bag and was caught in a run.

Hadley singled in the third, but two were already out and the next man was cut down.

Baird walked for the Barons in the fourth and stole second. Gandel also was passed, but Yaryan popped out. Conroy hit a long fly to center and Schepner forced Gandel.

In the sixth West led off with a single. Baird fanned, but Gandel singled, placing West on second. Yaryan singled to left, filling the bases. West and Gandel scored when Conroy punched one to left field, but Conroy was cut down. Griffith to Brock to Gilbert, as he tried to make third base. Schepner walked, but Gandel ended the inning with a fly to Griffith.

The visitors got another run in the eighth. Baird was passed by Love, who had relieved Rogers after Murphy had batted for the first pitcher.

Summary: Two-base hit, Baird; home run, Chapman; stolen base, Baird; sacrifice, Gandel; left on bases, Birmingham 10, Atlanta 11; bases on balls, off Rogers 3, Love 1, McLaughlin 2, Hadley 9; struck out, by Hadley 2, Rogers 1; hits, off Rogers 6 in 7 innings, McLaughlin 3 in 1, Love 2 in 1; hit by pitcher, by Rogers (Hadley), by Hadley (Niehaus); winning pitcher, Hadley; losing pitcher, Rogers; Umpires, Clark and Guthrie, Time, 2:15.

Gandel put him on second with a sacrifice. Yaryan flied out, but Conroy came through with a punch to center to score Baird.

Crackers Score.

Hadley began to aviate in the eighth and it looked for a while as if the Crackers might have a chance. They scored a couple of runs with only one hit figuring in the proceedings. With one man out, Haas singled to deep short. Good drew a base on balls, but Tom Griffith, playing his first home game as a Cracker, repudiated his performance of the day by hoisting one to Conroy. Then Hadley planted the ball in Al Niehaus' back to fill the bases. Hadley passed Luebbe and Gilbert in succession, forcing the only two Atlanta runs across the plate. Cavet batted for Rogers and batted out to Yaryan to end the inning.

The Barons' reply to this was a pair of runs in the ninth. Chapman, first up, smacked the ball into the hands of a homer. Hadley got his second hit, a single to left. West tied to Haas, and Baird doubled down the first base line, putting Hadley on third. Yaryan then cracked a long fly well over Haas' head in left field, but the centerfielder after a desperate run, flung up his gloved hand and caught the ball. Hadley easily scored after the catch.

Niehoff walked in the ninth and Haas singled, but two were out and Griffith ended the inning with a fly to Gandel.

The same teams will meet again this afternoon, the game starting at 3 o'clock. Ray Francis is a probable pitching selection.

Bobby Jones Picked To Win Open Tourney

St. Annes, Eng., June 21.—With the opening of the British open golf championship tournament less than 24 hours off, Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, threw contention into the ranks of English golfers today by turning in a card of 70 in a foursome practice match over the St. Annes links, equalling the amateur record for the course.

Combined with his spectacular 134 for 36 holes at Sunningdale last week in the qualifying rounds for the title play, the Atlanta has taken only 204 strokes in 54 holes of difficult play.

T. D. Armour and George Von Elm, the Americans, and J. H. Taylor, of British veteran, were the other members of the foursome.

In another practice match, Joe Kirkwood, paired with Silas M. Newt, the American, lost on the 18th green to Watts Gunn and Bill Mohl.

All made approximately 72 for the course.

A long line of the great golfers of the world will begin early Tuesday to move from the clubhouse of the Lytham and St. Annes course in the three-day procession that is to decide the British open championship.

The links are in perfect condition. "It is essentially a fair course," said T. Pym Williamson, the club secretary. "There is nothing tricky about it."

Jack To Start Training; Tex Faces Board At Wimbledon

By Leased Wire to The Constitution and United News.

New York, June 21.—The world heavyweight champion, Jack Dempsey, will start training at Tom Luthers' Saratoga Springs camp, on August 1, in preparation for his next championship fight. Tex Rickard announced today.

Indication that Rickard had not wavered in his intention to match Tunney with Dempsey was seen in the promoter's statement that the ex-marine had ended motion picture work on the Pacific coast and would start east at once to arrange his training plans.

Tunney, according to Rickard, will go into camp before August 1, probably in the vicinity of New York city.

Rickard Faces Board Today.

Dempsey's opponent has not been selected definitely pending outcome of differences between Rickard and the New York state athletic commission, but it will be either Gene Tunney or Harry Wills. The date has been tentatively set for September 10.

Rickard tonight he had decided to go before the commission tomorrow for a final discussion of his plans. The promoter is understood to favor matching Dempsey with Tunney, despite the fact the commission has insisted on Wills having preference. It is expected Rickard, if he defies the New York commission and names Tunney, will put the bout on at Boyles' Thirty Acres, Jersey City.

Stroelen, an American, was beaten by H. Timmer, of Holland, 6-2, 6-2, 6-1. Baron de Kehringer defeated M. Feret, the flashy Frenchman, 7-5, 6-4, 6-3, 6-3. Col. H. G. Maves, Anglo-Canadian, won over J. E. Paves Smith, 6-2, 6-1, 6-3. Flaquer, the Spanish Davis cup player, beat J. Olmstead 8-6, 6-4, 3-6, 7-5.

In an exhibition doubles match, Suzanne Lenglen suffered defeat. Paired with Elizabeth Ryan of California, the French girl bested to Mrs. L. A. Godfree of England and Katherine Boumann of Holland, 8-6. Senorita Olle de Alvarez of Spain was to have been Mrs. Godfree's partner, but she pleaded lack of condition and the Dutch girl took her place.

Because of Richards' excellent showing, he has been installed favorite over Cochet, although the odds are slight.

In the first round of the women's singles, Mary K. Browne, ace of the American forces, with Helen Wills on the sidelines as spectator and reporter, will face Suzanne. Lenglen experienced no difficulty beating the Californian in Paris and experts figure she again will win easily.

Tuesday's matches will include Lenglen against Miss Browne, Miss Ryan against the Englishwoman, J. L. Colegate; Cochet against Richards, and Kinsey against J. B. Gilbert, of England.

The winner of the Cochet-Richards match is expected to become the title-holder.

Three 10-Round Bouts Arranged for Show At City Auditorium

Benny Regan Gets Return Match With Snipes on Striling-Sullivan Card—K. O. Dugan Battles Touchstone in Another Feature 10-Round Go.

The last of the three big ten-round features for fighters on the auditorium June 29 was officially closed Sunday by Promoter Herbert Watson, who announced Monday that in one corner we will have Honey Boy Snipes, of Macon, and in the other, Benny Regan, of Atlanta.

It will be a return match and should be cordially received, for in a preliminary to the Striling-Neuman event here several weeks ago they boxed a furious and thoroughly pleasing exhibition, Snipes being given the referee's decision, although there were several hundred dissenting voices.

Snipes and Regan are bantams, both fast and clever and good hitters for their weight. The former, like Benny Touchstone, the heavyweight, and Herbert Striling, lightweight, are in the stable of William Lawrence Striling, Sr., who will have a busy evening as referee for two and one-half fights in three successive matches.

The other bout is yet to be arranged and will be either of four rounds or a battle royal to a finish, and it will hardly have a hand in that.

Mr. Striling, he it said, has quite a stable of fighters, even omitting his light-heavyweight son, and he is eager to display them to the boxing public. In Touchstone he figures he has a future heavyweight sensation; in Herbert Striling he has hopes of replacing W. L. when that worthy has reached the end of his string, and in Honey Boy Snipes he thinks he has a clever, popular little battler who, if nothing more, can take the measure of Regan here on the 29th. However, the same opinion does not exist in the latter's camp, which, after all, is what boxing is all about.

Regan was not at all tickled over the decision rendered against him at the last show, and is bent on turning the tables.

Thus far Promoter Watson has three bouts listed—Herbert Striling vs. Hollis Sullivan; Benny Touchstone vs. K. O. Dugan; and Snipes vs. Regan. All of them will be ten rounds.

Memphis,

The Law of the Talon

By Louis Tracy

INSTALLMENT XXXVIII.
AN ACCIDENT.

John retired to a quiet corner of the lounge and examined a road map. Of course, he had glanced before at the main routes across the border, and thence into Scotland as far as the bridge of Orchy; he knew every inch of the country beyond. But to these technical details he was now devoting a fury of impatience to be speeding on his way which might in itself prove the worst sort of hindrance. He was well aware of that drawback. Many a time he pored over an artillery map in Flanders when the air was being rent by high explosives and one never knew the second that a stealthy gas wave would not spread through the trench and put an end forever to a reliable adjustment of intersecting angles. The training or war came in use, only now. His eyes conveyed the sought for information to some competent part of his brain while the rest of his faculties were conning all manner of fanciful questions, none of which could he possibly answer with accuracy.

He could determine, for instance, that the round hundred miles between Gretna Green and Stirling offered by far the best if slightly the longest motoring road; with luck, he could cover the run from Windermere before it was dark. An early start next morning should bring him to Mallaig about midday, so there should be no difficulty in wiring Betty the approximate hour of his arrival.

Although he knew it was foolish he could not help asking himself what sudden crisis had arisen at Inverlochlie that not only called him to Eileen's side but demanded the wreaking of physical vengeance on Alistair. What irresistible influence had brought Betty Bridgforth into Eileen's camp? He had a vague memory of some love messages years ago between her and Cousin Alistair, but they came to nothing, and were never regarded as really serious by other relatives. Above all, what did Eileen's letter mean? Her very outspokenness offered a sort of veil. Was she literally bidding him take her away from her own people? With a strangely vivid flash of recollection the words of the gray-haired train conductor of the C. P. R. recurred.

He tackled a longer explanation to Leslie.

"I'd go straight an' see the girl," the man had said, having cogitated John's hypothetical case from the recaptured viewpoint of a long vanished youth, "an' if she was agreeable, I'd kick the other guy round the block, an' take her away from him, an' not all the acts of parliament in the law library at Ottawa would stop me!"

It would seem that the Canadian Pacific Railway company ran a sideline of prophets as part of their transcontinental service. No seer since the time of Isaiah had foretold the course of events more accurately than that friendly conductor.

But John decided rather wisely that it was better to be up and doing than searching a woman's written word for the secret thoughts of her heart. She might whisper she would never write them. His immediate business was to compose telegrams. The first was to Betty. It kept strictly to the point.

"The two letters reached me here, Windermere, at 11 this morning. God willing, I shall be in Mallaig by noon tomorrow. Traveling by car. Leave letter or other message care of postoffice, Mallaig."

He did not sign his name. Eileen had expressed her dislike for any form of scandalous publicity, and Betty could make no mistake as to the sender of the telegram. Then he tackled a longer explanation to Leslie.

"Letters from the north were from Eileen and my cousin, Betty Bridgforth. They indicate complete break, and call urgently for my presence. My address, unless further notice is care of postoffice, Mallaig. Conditions obviously forbid visit to Deauville, but shall endeavor to follow your advice in most matters. I shall keep you informed of developments. Perhaps Mr. Furneaux should be told."

This preliminary staff work was accomplished in fifteen minutes. Then Spot and his master took the road. There are few more interesting runs than that through Ambleside and Grasmere, with their memories of Ruskin and Wordsworth, Coleridge and De Quincey, up the long hill of Kenilworth Rise, and so on to Penrith and Carlisle. But John's eyes were set steadfastly on milestones and sign posts, while Spot, no doubt, scanning the stark hills, expected to find snow lying on the next slope. Not for them were the beauties of lakes and fell or the stirring legends told in the border ballads. They had a purpose, and would have achieved it had not the boy at Fort William put John's car out of commission by his careless handling of a lively cob. By a miracle, no one was hurt, though the smash was thorough enough, both delivery van and car losing a wheel. Worse still, the differential was broken. With the boy was an Airedale, who seemed to be enraged by the accident, so John's first anxiety, after extricating himself from the wreck, was to rescue this warrior from a sudden and violent death, because Spot was righteously indignant about the whole affair.

A crowd gathered, and not even local esprit de corps, nowhere stronger than in Scotland, could exonerate the young butcher when a policeman began to record events. John, of course, had to produce his license. He was inclined to resent the constable's painstaking methods, and showed his irritation whereupon the law wanted to examine Spot's license as well. Most fortunately, this had been taken out at Wimbledon. "Panton!" commented the man. "John Bridgforth Panton? Ye'll be Lord Oban's son, juist hame frae Canada, I'm thinkin'?"

"Is that any business of yours?" demanded John, now thoroughly annoyed since a score of ears must have heard the question, and some of those present doubtless remembered him. The policeman stood his ground.

"It's a matter o' identity, ye ken. This smash will have to be inquired into by the insurance companies," he explained.

"Very well. You are right. But I'm due at Mallaig within a couple of hours. For goodness' sake direct me to a garage where I can hire another car."

A man came forward. He owned a garage, but a flock of tourists had commandeered every car in Fort William for the day. The informant, however, would undertake to look after and repair the damaged two-seater. As for Mallaig, a train would leave for that terminus in forty minutes, and arrive there before noon.

John smiled then. All was well. He would keep his tryst. Seeing the butcher's boy dabbing a cut on his forehead with a handkerchief, he handed over a pound note.

"There!" he said. "Use that as a plaster. I think your pony was mostly to blame. Tell your master that if he is anything out of his pocket, he's to let me know, and I'll make good his loss."

The policeman began to think about this time that he had been "barking up the wrong tree," as the old American phrase has it. Never theless, his soul hung after additional notes.

"That's a bonny dog o' yours, sir—what is he?" he inquired.

"A Glasgow porridge hound," said John, in whose brain some tiny nerve jangled a warning. Fort William guffawed at the quip, for the joke had a tang of true Highland contempt for the Lowlander.

"He looks like one o' they foreigners frae China," persisted the other.

"That's what the butcher's Airedale thought a few minutes ago. You saw what a bloomer he made."

That ended the inquisition, and John was free to gather his belongings and get help to carry them to the station.

Visitors and Brides-Elect To Be Socially Honored Today

Swimming parties, followed by luncheons and teas for visiting brides-elect, and social affairs planned for the visiting members of the Women's Auxiliary to the D. A. V. and those given for the Disabled Veterans convening in Atlanta this week take precedence on Tuesday's calendar.

Miss Mary Vereen, of Moultrie; Miss Eugenia Coleman, of Macon, and Miss Cynthia L. Engle, of Jacksonville, Fla., who are visiting Miss Marion Vaughan, will be honor guests at the swimming party at which Miss Sarah Adair entertains at the Druid Hills Golf club, while Miss Vaughan's tea-dance this afternoon at her home on Andrews drive will assemble members of the younger set of society to meet Miss Palmer Atkinson, a former Atlanta who is among the popular summer visitors. Miss Mattie White Kellam, a July bride-elect, will be the central figure at Mrs. D. W. Durden's bridge party, and Miss Elizabeth Williamson, another bride-elect of June 30, will be honored by Miss Ruth Green.

Roof Garden Dances.

The Tuesday evening dances at the Capital City roof garden always prove an enjoyable and pleasurable amusement for the members and their friends, who foregather for dinner at 8 o'clock and dance until midnight, atop the roof where cool breezes blow and a tempting dinner is served. Popular dance music inspires belles and beaux to trip the light fantastic until the strains of "Home, Sweet Home" remind them that the last waltz is being danced before goodbyes are said, and the time has arrived for purring motors to carry the happy throng homeward.

Mrs. McLern Weds

Arthur Johnson.

Of interest to a wide circle of friends is the wedding of Mrs. Alma G. McLern to Arthur W. Johnson, which took place Friday evening June 18, at the home of Rev. B. R. Lacy, 64 Park lane.

The bride was beautifully gowned in white georgette, carrying a bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor, Miss Myrtle O'Brien, was gowned in a creation of black and pink georgette, wearing a corsage of sweet peas and lilies of the valley, and showered with lilies of the valley.

The groom had as his best man, L. B. Hobbs.

Mrs. Johnson has only recently come to the city while Mr. Johnson has made Atlanta his home for many years, during which time he has been associated with several of the leading jewelry companies in the city.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left for Florida. On their return they will be at home to their friends with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Creel at 46 Orme circle.

West End Civic Club To Meet Wednesday.

The regular meeting of the Women's Civic club of West End will take place Wednesday afternoon, June 23, at 3 o'clock, in the clubrooms.

Mrs. Edw. Hardaway Smith, the president, will occupy the chair, and has announced that plans for the annual picnic of the club will be under discussion. A program has been arranged by Mrs. M. Herberg, co-chairman of music, who will present Mrs. C. Jack Williams, a violinist of note, in a number of selections.

At the executive board meeting, which will take place at 2 o'clock, just preceding the regular meeting, Mrs. Fred Stewart, second vice president, will preside.

Woodmen Circle

To Have Picnic.

Maple Grove No. 86, Woodmen circle, will hold its annual picnic Tuesday evening, June 27, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hyman, 2000 Gordon road.

All members and their friends are invited. Also members of Mary E. La Roca Grove No. 267, American Grove No. 217, and members of

Miss Highleyman Weds Mr. Phillips In Missouri

Sedalia, Mo., June 21.—Saturday evening, June 5, Calvary Episcopal church was the scene of a beautiful wedding, when Miss Euphemia Highleyman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Riley Highleyman, became the bride of Austave Paul Phillips, Jr., of Atlanta, Ga., and Orlando, Fla.

Stately ascension lilies, snapdragons and gladioli against a background of palms, adorned the altar and chancel of the church. Placed at either side of the chancel were branched candelabra holding white cathedral candles. The central chandelier was festooned with greenery and white ribbon.

The marriage service was read by Rev. C. G. Fox. Before the ceremony Mrs. Paul Barnett sang "Possession," and "I Love You Truly." Miss Mabel DeWitt played the wedding music.

The lovely bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was beautiful in an imported white tulle robe de style with an elaborate pearl design. From the back of her head fell the tulle veil, caught with a wreath of orange blossoms. Her shower bouquet was of bridal roses, valley lilies and tulle ribbon.

The maid of honor, Miss Marian Phipps, was lovely in a gown of cerulean blue tulle, with trimmings of white and blue. She carried a picture hat of tulle to match, and carried a colonial bouquet of butterfly roses and delphinium.

The bride's maids, Miss Myrtle Wolf, of St. Louis; Miss Margaret Smith, of Kansas City, and Miss Ruth Parks, were charming in their gowns of white tulle, with trimmings of blue and white. They carried colonial bouquets of butterfly roses and delphinium.

Jack McLaughlin was Mr. Phillips' best man. Donald Barnes, of Kansas City; Emil Neff and Ralph Weinrich were the groomsmen.

Following the wedding there was a reception for relatives and intimate friends at the home of the bride. The house was prettily decorated with southern smilax and large baskets of flowers. The dining table had a handsome lace cover and was centered with sweetheart roses and smilax.

Mrs. Highleyman was handsomely gowned in black sequins over silver cloth, and she wore a corsage bouquet of roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips left at midnight for an extended trip to the east, visiting Chicago, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Columbus, Ohio, Pittsburgh, Pa., Washington, D. C., Philadelphia and New York. They will be home in Orlando, Fla. Mrs. Phillips is Miss Highleyman's maiden name.

At the wedding, Mrs. Phillips was accompanied by Mrs. A. P. Phillips.

The bride's going-away gown was a brown fall crepe coat dress with hat to match.

Mr. Phillips is associated with the Mount Plymouth corporation, developers of Mount Plymouth, Fla.

Miss Ozburn Weds Mr. Simmons At Congregational Church

An event of wide social interest to friends of the contracting parties is the marriage of Miss Shirley Lorraine Ozburn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles P. Ozburn, to Jack Reese Simmons, of Atlanta, which took place this afternoon at 4 o'clock at Plymouth Congregational church, Coconut Grove, before a small group of relatives and intimate friends.

Plymouth church, vine-covered and quaint, in its tropical setting of palms and beautiful shrubbery, was ideal for the simple but impressive marriage service which united this young couple. The bride and groom stood before an improvised altar on the patio, which formed an artistic background for the ceremonial rites, which were performed by the Rev. Dr. J. D. Kuykendall, pastor of Plymouth church. The ring ceremony was used, and there were no attendants.

The bride was lovely in her marriage gown, a French model of Dutch blue georgette over satin, fashioned with wide draped girle of blue satin, forming a huge bow in the front, and wearing a picture hat of shell pink neapolitan, with trimmings of hand-made georgette and rose. Her trailing shades of pink and rose. Her shoes and hose were white, and she carried an arm bouquet of pink Killarney roses.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom, relatives and close friends were driven to The Everglades, where a reception was tendered by the parents of the bride, and loved by a dinner on the roof, with covers for about 18 guests.

The bride's table was artistically decorated, the wedding cake in pink and white surmounted with smilax and pink roses, forming the central decoration. The place cards were topped with a miniature "bride" or "groom," and each guest received a place card cut by the bride and placed in an individual box, as a souvenir of the occasion.

In addition to the bridal couple, the following were guests of the host and hostess: Miss Margaret Smith, the bride's young cousin; Miss Nell Walker, Mrs. R. D. Walker, Mrs. Anne Edson, Mrs. E. V. Grant, Mr. and Mrs. William Robert Ozburn, of Savannah, cousins of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Weiss, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Smith, aunt and uncle of the bride; Charles Reese Ozburn, the bride's only brother; R. P. Fulker.

Miss Orme Honors Lovely Visitors at Al Fresco Supper

One of the loveliest social affairs of Monday was the al fresco supper party given by Miss Mary Phillips Orme at her home on Fairview road in compliment to her cousin, Miss Nancy Phillips, of Columbia, S. C., who is her guest, and Miss Palmer Atkinson, of Chicago, who is visiting Miss Mary Meador Goldsmith.

Supper was served buffet style in the beautiful gardens at the rear of the Orme home. The attractively arranged tables, placed in inviting array beneath the trees, were adorned with mounds of brightly-colored garden flowers. Gay Japanese lanterns lighted the scene.

Following supper the guests enjoyed a treasure hunt.

Miss Orme, who was assisted in receiving her guests by her mother, Mrs. Frank Orme, and her sister, Miss Nancy Orme, was becomingly gowned in lavender georgette.

Miss Phillips was an attractive figure in rose georgette.

Miss Atkinson's lovely frock was a sports model of white crepe.

The guests included fifty members of the sub-club contingent and the school set.

Miss Northcutt Honored at Party.

Miss Frances Northcutt, of Bradenton, Fla., the guest of Mrs. Richard Gray, Jr., was honored by Mrs. Gray Monday morning with a lovely swimming party at 10:30 o'clock at the Brookhaven Country club.

After a delightful swim in the lake an informal luncheon was served on a daintily-appointed table which was placed on the shaded porch of the attractive clubhouse.

The guests included a small group of Atlanta's younger social set.

Several additional parties are being planned for Miss Northcutt during her visit with Mrs. Gray.

Mrs. Walsh Gives Informal Seated Tea.

Mrs. Anne Bates Walsh was hostess at a seated tea at the Druid Hills Golf club on Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock as a compliment to Mrs. Edwin Murray, formerly Miss Christine Evans, of Fort Valley, who has recently come to Atlanta to make her home, and also for Mrs. Merl Huchison, of New York.

The tea table was beautifully appointed, and covers were placed for 12 guests.

Survival of the "Fittest"!

THIS being a talk on shoes, I suppose I should say "The Survival of Those That Fit." It seems to me almost a crime the way women are fitted, or rather misfitted, in some stores. Many, many times when the exact size required is not on hand, women are knowingly or unknowingly persuaded to take a size or width that is sure to cause them discomfort later. And yet, these same stores wonder why we never come back again.

Let's Them Walk Out Unsold!

I KNOW a company whose president instructs each and every salesman in its organization to let the customer walk out unsold if the exact size which she requires is not on hand. True, such a policy would be ruinous to stores that carry only a limited stock of sizes and widths, but this company carries (I know) at all times a complete run of sizes from 2 1/2 to 9, in widths from AAA to D, and are in a position to back up this unusual policy and thus minimize the walk-outs to the proverbial "Irreducible."

"Every Day—in Every Way"!

CONCENTRATION is the keynote of this company's success. They have two factories of their own and twenty-five beautiful stores in as many principal American cities. They make and sell (direct) women's shoes only and for that reason are able to concentrate completely upon the problem of serving women correctly, courteously, and economically.

They Should Be a Success!

AND they are. I'll wager that although I haven't, as yet, mentioned the name of this firm in this article, ninety per cent of the women who are reading it know just exactly who I am talking about. Nisley's Beautiful Shoes are a topic of conversation among intelligent, well dressed women in every city where they are sold—as well as in many cities where stores have not yet been established.

One Woman Tells Another!

FOR the first time in shoe history fashionable women are boasting to their friends and acquaintances that they paid only $5.00 for their pretty shoes. This is because the name Nisley stands for infinitely more than the usual measure of value, style, fit and service at this price or near it. I sincerely believe that if all the women in America knew the plain truth about Nisley's Beautiful Shoes, not what I say or what their advertisements say, but just the plain truth, fifty factories couldn't supply the demand.

Miss Ross Weds Herbert C. Norris At Lovely Ceremony

Rome, Ga., June 21.—Of wide interest to a large circle of friends and family connections is the wedding of Miss Laura Camilla Ross, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ross, and Herbert Clarence Norris, of Atlanta, which was solemnized Saturday afternoon, June 21, at 4 o'clock, in Berry school chapel before a large company.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Frances Randle sang "At Dawning," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. L. G. Brown, of Mount Berry. The bride party entered to the strains of the wedding march from "Lohengrin," the ushers, Benjamin Ross and James Paul Norris, brothers of the bride and groom, being followed by the bridesmaids, Miss Sara Ross, sister of the bride, and Miss Genie Claire Norris, of Columbus, sister of the groom, who were lovely in costumes fashioned like of orchid and green chiffon in peasant style trimmed with hand-painted lace. Their hats were models of transparent tulle to match, adorned with a single shaded rose. Each carried a graceful arm bouquet of garden flowers in the pasted shades with chiffon ties.

The maid of honor, Miss Jessie Ross, sister of the bride, wore an imported model of pink chiffon made basque style with flared skirt-trimmed with a deep founce of pink lace. Her bouquet was of Premier roses showed with swains of the same color.

The flower girls, little Misses Martha Berry Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Johnson, and Elizabeth Ross, sister of the bride, were daintily in handsome frocks of pink crepe de chine, and carried old-fashioned bouquets of shaded sweet peas in lace paper holders.

The bride entered with her father, and was beautiful in her wedding gown of duchesse satin, fashioned along bouffant lines with flounces of chiffon and lace, with silvery tracery, caught at intervals with white satin roses. Her blond beauty was enhanced by a hat of white chiffon, trimmed with self-material and valley lilies. Her bouquet was of bride's roses showered with lilies of the valley. She was met at the altar by the groom and his best man, Roy Harris Govan, of Atlanta.

The strains of McDowell's "To a Wild Rose," accompanied the impressive ring ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Arthur Maness, of Trinity Methodist church. The party descended from the altar to the notes of Mendelssohn's "Recessional."

Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Ross, grandmother of the bride, at 1101 North Fifth avenue, after which the bridal couple left for an extended motor trip through the Blue Ridge mountains.

Mrs. Ross, mother of the bride, was handsomely gowned in peach georgette, and hat and accessories to match. She wore a corsage bouquet of Opelia roses.

Mrs. E. J. Morris, mother of the groom, wore a model of sage green georgette, and her flowers were sweetheart roses and shaded sweet peas. Among the out-of-town guests were Misses Genevieve Garmon, Estelle McNeese, Hortense Marion, Lillian J. Carter, Gladys Marchman, Kathleen Harrington, Anna Kernell, Gladys Copeland and Wilma Hilburn, of Atlanta; Dr. L. M. White, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Ferguson, Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Davidson, Dr. Floyd W. McRae, Dr. and Mrs. Lawson Thornton, Mrs. E. J. Norris and Mr. and Mrs. Ben El-Hott, of Atlanta; and Miss Martha Berry, of Rome.

Craigie House Reception Honors D. A. V.

One of the interesting affairs given in honor of the disabled veterans of the world war now in convention here, was the reception given Monday afternoon at Craigie house by the Atlanta chapter, D. A. V.

Receiving the guests were the officers of the chapter: Mrs. Lucius McConnell, regent; Mrs. James D. Croome, first vice regent; Mrs. J. W. Smith, second vice regent; Mrs. Llewellyn Scott, recording secretary; Mrs. Hugh Caldwell, corresponding secretary; Mrs. George Breitenbuecher, treasurer; Mrs. Aurelia Roach McMillen, historian; Mrs. John Marshall Sloan, Mrs. Frances Smith Whiteside, parliamentarian. Mrs. Moreland Speer was chairman of the house committee and the members of the committee were Mrs. Charles Walker, Mrs. Sidney Stone, Mrs. P. D. McCauley, Mrs.

VETERANS EXEMPT FROM LICENSE FEE, COURT RULES

No license fees need be paid by disabled veterans of the world war to peddle legal merchandise in Georgia and they are entitled to the same privileges in this respect as disabled Confederate veterans, according to a decision Monday of the supreme court.

The question arose in Fairburn where officials attempted to compel N. P. Edmondson, a disabled veteran, to pay a license fee for peddling on the ground that Edmondson did not possess a certificate from the ordinary of the county showing that he was a disabled veteran. Edmondson obtained an injunction restraining the town from collecting the license fee and the town appealed the case to the supreme court after Judge John B. Hutcherson of Stone Mountain circuit had declined to dismiss the injunction. The supreme court upheld the ruling of the lower court.

Hamby Hotel Opens Season at Clayton With Many Guests

Clayton, Ga., June 21.—(Special.) The Hamby House, the fine new hotel of Colonel and Mrs. R. E. A. Hamby, was formally opened Saturday evening with an initial registration of more than one hundred guests, including many prominent men from all sections of Georgia and western North Carolina. The first four persons to register were John N. Holder, chairman of the state highway board, and Mrs. Holder, and James A. Hollomon, editor of The Constitution and Francis E. Price, staff photographer. An excellent orchestra engaged for the early part of the evening was supplanted late in the evening by a quartet of "old-time fiddlers." Dancing was engaged in until close to midnight, and most of the citizens called during the evening to extend congratulations to Colonel and Mrs. Hamby. The new hotel is centrally located, and is modernly equipped in every way. It is most cordially appointed, and handsomely furnished. It is four stories, including the basement, in which the spacious dining room is located. It has large verandas, parlors, reception rooms, and every bedroom has an outside exposure. It is one of the most elegant hotels in the southeastern United States and one of the larger cities, like Asheville.

Colonel Hamby is a lawyer and the present Rabun county representative in the state legislature. Mrs. Hamby will conduct the hotel which assures for it a wonderfully inviting management, both as to meals and rooms, and as to general entertainment and comfort.

Mrs. Cora J. Blaylock Dies at Summerville; Was Pioneer Citizen

Summerville, Ga., June 21.—(Special.)—Mrs. Cora J. Blaylock, of Catonsville county, died at her home in Summerville Sunday after an illness of three weeks.

Mrs. Blaylock was born in Catonsville county and was the daughter of the Rev. William McCall Johnston and wife, Susan Adams. Her father was one of the pioneer Presbyterian preachers of north Georgia, he having come to Lafayette in 1840, immediately after graduation at Princeton. He preached at Lafayette and Chickamauga (Stone church) about 10 years. In 1858 he returned to South Carolina with his family. Mrs. Blaylock was educated at Yorkville Female college, Yorkville, S. C. She was married to John H. Blaylock on September 3, 1864, and was left a widow in 1911.

She was a life-long member of the Presbyterian church and a most faithful and devoted Christian. She is survived by one daughter, Miss Susie Adams Blaylock, of Summerville; a foster son, Walter Shields, of Fresno, California.

The funeral was held at the home Monday with interment in the Leveaux cemetery.

Showers Stated Today To Mark Summer Season

Showers, with rising temperatures, are expected to usher in the first day of summer today, according to local weather bureau officials. Monday, the longest day of 1929, brought cool winds and temperatures much lower than those of several days past.

The highest temperature Monday was 78 and the lowest 60, but today's lowest probably will be 8 to 10 degrees higher. The sudden drop of 18 degrees Sunday was occasioned by northeast winds forced through a high-pressure area moving northward, it was said.

Local weather officials declare the recent cold snap in Gotham caused by ice floes in the North Atlantic was too far away to be felt in Atlanta. A temperature of 60 degrees in June is nothing out of the ordinary for since 1911 eight years have been much colder, it was pointed out. In June, 1913, the thermometer descended to 47 and on June 1, 1880, a temperature of 39 was recorded.

Monday afternoon the thermometer began to rise and before daybreak today rain is slated to fall. Rain will be followed by weather more typical of Atlanta in summer.

BOATWRIGHT GIVEN NEW TRIAL ON PLEA TO SUPREME COURT

The supreme court Monday granted a new trial to Robert Boatwright, convicted in Wilkes county on a charge of killing Barney Lunceford and sentenced to serve a life term in the state prison. Lunceford was killed by Boatwright August 29, near Washington, Ga.

In granting the new trial the supreme court held that the trial judge had erred in combining charges of self defense with charges of mutual combat in his instructions to the jury. Boatwright was attending a party and was sitting in an automobile in the rear of the place where the party was held, talking to Lunceford's sister. Lunceford approached and after a brief quarrel Boatwright shot Lunceford according to the statement of facts in the opinion.

UKRAINIAN LEADER VICTIM OF ASSASSIN

Warsaw, Poland, June 21.—(AP)—Radziwell Oskilko, Ukrainian leader, was assassinated today at Rovno. Oskilko was former chief of the troops and a follower of General Simon Petliura, an anti-Bolshevik military leader in Ukraine, who was assassinated in Paris on May 25 last. The communists are suspected of having plotted both killings.

Easy To Gain Weight With Yeast and Iron

New Combination of Yeast With Vegetable Iron Builds Up Weight in Three Weeks

Thin, run-down and underweight men, women and children can improve their health, increase their energy and put on from five to twenty pounds of good solid flesh in three weeks.

A new combination of yeast vitamins with vegetable iron, renews the action of sluggish blood cells, drives out dangerous body poisons, increases energy and endurance, and supplies the system with the vitamins that build up weight.

For years yeast has been known as a rich vitamin food, but not until we perfected "ironized yeast"—which comes in concentrated tablet form, was it possible to take yeast and iron in the right proportions to build up weight.

Vegetable "Iron" when combined with yeast is quite easy to digest, therefore better for the system. And "yeast" when ironized, becomes just twice as beneficial as ordinary fresh or cake yeast.

Ironized Yeast tablets are composed of concentrated food elements, therefore they are pleasant to take and free from drug-like effects. It makes no difference how old you are—or how young you are—how long you have been underweight—or how much underweight you are, "ironized yeast" tablets are positively guaranteed to pick you right up, and add from five to twenty pounds of good firm flesh in three weeks' time. If they fail get your money back.

Sold by druggists, at $1.00 for a large 60-tablet package, or sent direct from laboratory on receipt of price. Ironized Yeast Co., Desk 203, Atlanta, Ga.

SCIENTISTS TELL YOU HOW TO SAFEGUARD HEALTH

Dr. Milton J. Rosenau, Harvard University

"Pasteurization saves lives and prevents sickness. It does not injure the quality of milk in any way and does not diminish its nutritive value. Pasteurization is the cheapest form of life insurance the consumer can take out."

Dr. Charles E. North, World-Renowned Milk Expert, New York City

"Pasteurization is positively necessary for all milk for the sake of safety. It is the only guarantee."

Man's greatest enemy is an organism so small as to be invisible to the eye—the germ. Man's greatest friend is the scientist, who carries on endless warfare in an effort to annihilate harmful bacilli. Heed the bulletins of science—follow the advice of the scientist and your life will be prolonged and your health will be greatly improved.

As to your milk supply, scientists speak definitely. "Milk," they say, "should be pasteurized. Harmful bacteria should be killed."

Consider the opinions reproduced in the column at the left—all expressed by authorities.

Pedigree Pasteurized Milk is sold or served in the best grocery stores, restaurants, cafes and hotels; in drug stores and at soda fountains. Ask for it by name. It is as fine and rich as milk can be. It is free of harmful bacterial life—because it is perfectly pasteurized in the South's newest and most modern pasteurizing plant.

GLAD TO SPREAD GOOD NEWS

Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cleveland, Ohio.—The friends of Mrs. Helen M. Kowalczyk of 6819 Hope Avenue, were glad to hear that she has regained her health. For quite some time Mrs. Kowalczyk was quite ill and it was impossible for her to work. She took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to build her up. After she had started taking it, she wrote to the Pinkham Company as follows: "I certainly trust Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I feel stronger already and sleep sounder. I am very glad to spread the good news of how it has helped me."

"Happy to Recommend Pinkham's"

Detroit, Michigan.—"I heard of this medicine through an advertisement in the 'Detroit News' and wrote to Mrs. Grace Gillman, whose letter was published. Then I started taking the Vegetable Compound and got the best results. I used the Sanative Wash, too. I am really happy if I can advise women to take your medicine."—Mrs. M. E. Silks of the Mid-Summer Season

Style and Quality Merchandise

Especially Designed For Summer Comfort

In Window 1

Skinner's Washable Crepe

$2.95 Yd.

Rub-a-dub-dub—One's dress in a tub! And after it's pressed, it is as fresh and charming as though just returned from a French dry cleaner's.

Truly, Skinner's Crepe de Chine is a silk fabric "par excellence." It's the type of fabric used for the smartest street and travel frocks. The deft needlewoman can easily fashion dresses from it that vie with those created by noted designers. Many beautiful colors—black and white. 40 inches wide.

Style Expressed in Silken Terms

Cheap silks can no more form a dress of style than a porker's ear a silken purse!

Correct style has its very beginning in genuine quality. Here in Style Headquarters for the South are all those quality silks that Fashion has stamped for her own.

For "the Season of Summer" we are showing a most exceptional display of exquisite new silks especially suitable for the coolest summer frocks.

Our windows are displaying six groups of the season's loveliest. These, however, are but a foretaste of the charming variety in our silk section on the main floor.

Here the summer shopper will find that style and quality may be purchased at prices as low as mediocrity is often found.

In Window 6

Fairy-Like Silk Georgette

$1.59 Yd.

Magical! Witchery! Elusive, fleeting qualities that have been caught and imprisoned by the silk maker's art. And strange to say—for all the ethereal fairylike texture of georgette, in its delicate pastel colors, it wears remarkably. So well, in fact, that it is quite as practical for dainty underwear as for the most graceful dresses. We offer here a wide variety of colors, in 39-inch, all-silk georgette—at a most unusual, low figure.

In Window 2

Soft Glamorous Lunette Crepe

$3.95 Yd.

"Lunette" crepe—that takes its name from the moonlight. Soft, enchanting—and lovely. This is a silk akin to Georgette—only of softer, heavier quality.

While practically any color may be had, Lunette is featured in the shades best suited for filmy, transparent evening dresses. Come in and see the array of exquisite colors—like a rainbow passing before one's eyes.

Lunette Crepe is 40 inches wide.

In Window 3

Extra Heavy Georgette Crepe

$2.95 Yd.

Old Sol can climb as high as he likes—but he cannot wilt midday who chooses her afternoon frock of this extra quality Georgette. There'll be bridge parties, club affairs and informal evening parties when a graceful Georgette gown will be the proper costume. This Georgette, as we said, is extra heavy quality, sheer and beautifully woven. Black, white and myriad lovely colors. 39 inches wide.

In Window 4

Indispensable Crepe de Chine

$1.95 Yd.

"Grandma" wore silks that rustled and stood alone—and she had only one silk dress a year—and no silk "undies!" How her granddaughters have progressed! Today's costumes are practically all silk—dresses and underthings! And for these modern times crepe de chine is what linen was to Grandma—the indispensable fabric. Here, then, is the "indispensable" at its best—extra thick and lustrous—39 inches wide.

In Window 5

Washable Silk Broadcloth

$1.95 Yd.

Silk broadcloth—brave and gay in its effective stripes, tiny checks—or solid colors, if you prefer! Such a chic—practical silk this broadcloth is! Launderers perfectly and the different designs and patterns are the newest, most approved. It is the type of silk that is ideal for the slim, untrimmied frock—and these, as the wise ones know, are so simple and easy to make. 32 inches wide.

THE recent retirement of United States Government Certificates, without refinancing, furnishes potent evidence of the continued shrinkage in our national debt which will gradually create a scarcity value for Government securities. It seems reasonable to conclude that the flow of released funds from Government issues to other securities should tend to place on a permanently higher price and lower yield level other types of sound investments.

New York, June 21.—(P)—Early declines in cotton today were followed by sharp rallies, cotton futures selling up from 16.25 to 16.40 and closing at 16.38, compared with 16.47 at the close Saturday. The general market closed steady at net declines of 3 to 14 points. The opening was at a decline of 8 to 15 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables, combined with a favorable interpretation of the early weather and crop news. Numerous advices indicated the crop had made very good progress last week, and reports of rains and showers in the eastern belt suggested that the drought in parts of the Carolinas and Georgia had been relieved. For a time the market was under considerable pressure or liquidation, local and southern selling prices falling off to 17.66 for July and 16.30 for December during the forenoon. These figures represented net declines of about 17 to 26 points from the previous day. A little more demand as prices approached the 16.14-cent level for October contracts. This was supposed to include some trade buying as well as rekindling by 18-cent and the early afternoon market turned upward, when offerings were comparatively light. Fresh selling probably was checked by the weather reports showing that rains in the eastern belt had been accompanied by rather low temperatures, and that rains in the southwest had been anticipated. Uncertainty prevailed as to the effects of the latter, particularly in view of the forecast for further rains or showers. There also was talk that the wet weather was likely to promote the spread of boll weevil. July sold up to 17.82 and December to 16.45 in late trading, and the close was within a point or two of these figures. Private cables attributed the decline in Liverpool to liquidation and short selling on favorable weather reports from the south and further curtailment of Lancashire activities owing to fuel shortage. Exports today 2,373; making 7,763. 940 so far this season. Port receipts 8,078. United States port stocks, 741,068.

SPOTS IN NEW ORLEANS. New Orleans, June 21.—(P)—Cotton spot quiet; middling 18.30.

MARKET TWO-SIDED AT NEW ORLEANS. New Orleans, June 21.—(P)—The cotton market was decidedly a two-sided affair today and was fairly active at times. After declining during the morning 18 to 21 points on official reports of good rains in the drought sections of the eastern belt, the market rallied quite sharply in the afternoon practically recovering all the early losses on new crop months and advancing to a level 6 points above Saturday's close on July, that month being particularly firm owing to covering by belated shorts in advance of the first notice day. The rally was due to fears of too much rain in the western belt and the rejection of the so-called first new bale by the Houston cotton exchange as unmerchantable and therefore not entitled to be considered the first bale. The close was practically at the high, showing a net gain of 5 points on July and net losses of 1 to 4 points on new crop months. Liverpool was slightly lower than due at the start and first trades here showed losses of 2 to 7 points. After a brief period of steadiness the market turned easy on reports of good rains in the drought districts and before the decline was checked July traded down to 16.96, October 15.91 and December to 15.90 on 18 to 21 points below the close of Saturday. The advance after mid-session carried July up to 17.20 or 24 points up from the low and 8 points above the previous close. October advanced to 16.12 and December to 16.08 or 18 to 21 points above the lows and unchanged to 3 points below the previous close. The close was near the high. Exports for the day totalled 2,373 bales.

SPOTS IN NEW ORLEANS. New Orleans, June 21.—(P)—Spot cotton closed quiet, 8 points up. Sales 509; low middling 14.20; middling 17.45; good middling 18.10; receipts 2,448; stock 218,705.

The Day in Finance

BY R. L. BARNUM

New York, June 21.—Buying orders for stocks accumulating over Sunday made the market strong, active and broad during the early trading. Profit-taking and some short selling developed, causing declines and uncertainty but with the volume of trading falling off. Some oils were strong on rumors of mergers. Rails and some industrials were on the steady side. Motors were strong. Corporation bonds and notes maturing next month foot up $60,000,000 against $42,978,000 for this month and $109,088,000 for July of last year. Money renewed today at 4 per cent, showing no signs of strain over either corporation financing or maturing notes and bonds or heavy July 1 interest and dividend requirements. Oil Merger Rumor. Rumors of coming oil mergers hang mostly at the minute around Union Oil of California, Marland and Atlantic Refining with Union Oil holding the center of the stage. Since Shell Union sold its large block of Union Oil to eastern bankers it has been understood generally in Wall street that Union Oil could be bought by some company desiring Pacific coast property. Next to Pacific Oil, which originally belonged to Southern Pacific, Union Oil has more potential possibilities in oil production than any other western company. It is no secret that many companies would like to get control of Union Oil.

Wall street bankers think the country as a whole is not saving as much as it did a few months ago out of its large current earning power. This opinion is based on the tendency during the last three or four months of bank loans to increase faster than deposits. Naturally the banks with large idle funds welcome increasing loans. However, there was a better situation when deposits, too, were increasing faster. There is more than enough money to go around and hence the increased interest in the stock market with disappearance of alarm over the industrial outlook. The only probable disturbance Wall street bankers can now see in the money market is speculation in the stock market increased to the point where federal reserve bank officials might issue such a warning as that some months ago in raising rediscount rates. Such signs, however, are not now in sight.

In view of the sharp advance which occurred in the stock market up last Friday Wall street naturally concluded that much of the large short interest that existed a month or six weeks ago has been eliminated thus weakening the technical position of the market. There is still a sleeping stubborn outstanding short interest in specialties and professional traders all during the recent advance in prices were putting out short stocks one day, covering the same day or next, and repeating this process feeling for the top. But the outstanding short interest is not as large as it was. This increases the chances for sudden sharp temporary setbacks in the stock market.

Automobile Production. May automobile production as given out at Washington today was disappointing to speculative Wall street, the figures, including Canada, being only 394,000 passenger cars and 51,000 trucks against 402,000 and 53,000, respectively, for April. Canada's proportion was 23,000 cars and 3,000 trucks in round number. Wall street's estimate was for at least 425,000 for this May. This is the time of year for seasonal curtailment of automobile production, especially in view of the high record figures for April and the early months of the year. Good stock market opinion to be had in Wall street comes from men with intelligence and successful experience acquired in some other way than making money out of personal transactions in the stock market. There are a lot of such people to be found in Wall street in various occupations. One striking example is found in a seasoned active floor member of the stock exchange who never trades for himself but who is content with making his living in the commissions earned by buying and selling stocks for others. Floor traders thus have the advantage of a disinterested viewpoint of actual technical market conditions, of the attitude of the speculative professional, semi-professional, amateur traders and the public.

One of the best known, active and successful floor traders on the stock exchange expressed the belief today that Friday's sharp decline in the stock market was due to a bear raid by professional traders who tested the market by selling long stocks to see if the market had grown top-heavy and hence was in shape for profit in the short side. To this floor trader the net result of this test showed that the long side was still the right side. This conclusion was reached because the bear raid Friday resulted in bringing out no real selling pressure of long stocks, but on the other hand caused sufficient buying Saturday and over the weekend to bring about a sharp recovery.

From the viewpoint of the floor trader in question, the tendency of the stock market to recover from bear raids reflects confidence on the part of powerful banking interests and the big outside public in the general financial and industrial situation and outlook plus the material aid on which speculation feeds. If the financial and industrial situation and outlook are sound there is nothing that stimulates speculation in the stock market as much as rumors of mergers and extra dividends. For days Wall street has been flooded with rumors of oil, railroad and industrial company mergers with everybody asking everybody such questions as what is the history of the local weather bureau. It was 65 degrees at 6:30 this morning, June 21, 1870, showed the same temperature.

Stock Prices Continue Upward Despite Selling

DAILY STOCK SUMMARY.

Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday	Sunday

New York, June 21.—(P)—The main tendency in today's stock market continued upward despite another outburst of selling, coincident with the further stiffening of call money rates. Net gains in most of the popular issues were relatively small, but they were spread over a fairly broad list. Trading showed a moderate falling off in volume, the day's sales aggregating 1,847,200 shares. The average of 20 leading railroad shares touched 118.20, the highest price in several years. The average of 20 leading industrial issues touched 140.57, a new high on the current recovery, but still 5.50 points below the year's high, established last February.

Week-end business news was largely constructive in character. The May earnings report of the Kansas City Southern, the first to make its appearance, showed net of $500,555, an increase of $56,000 over the corresponding month last year. Oil shares received increasing speculative attention, due to stiffening of commodity price tendencies and unusually high oil earnings. Marland was bid up over two points to 63 and then eased to 61.78, and California Petroleum, Maracani, Barnhart, and A. A. Houston, Louisiana, and Phillips all showed net gains of a point or more. Union Oil of California, which recorded a spirited advance last week, dropped from an early high of 55.12 to 51.12 on an official denial of merger rumors, and then rallied to 53, off 21.5 net. Such recent favorites as U. S. Steel common, General Motors, Baldwin, Mack Trucks, Packard Motors and Universal Pipe showed only fractional gains. Bullish demonstrations were successfully conducted in a number of specialties. Pullman was bid up nearly 5 points to 180.88, the highest price in about 15 years. General Railway Signals advanced over 3 points to a new high at 112.12 and Commercial Solvents A and B touched new tops at 168 and 170, respectively. A jump of nearly 5 points in Delaware and Hudson, and the establishment of a new 1926 high by Reading at 87.78 were the features of the railroad group. Good buying also was noted in Frisco common on the theory that it was selling out of line with other 87 dividend paying stocks. Commodity markets were mixed. Active wheat futures dropped a cent or more a bushel, reflecting the pressure of new wheat on the market. Cotton showed net declines of 3 to 14 points with selling inspired by favorable weather reports. Raw sugar was unchanged, but the futures market was firm. Coffee rallied 25 to 32 points on buying by houses with European connections.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent and then advanced to 4.12, closing at the top. Time money and commercial paper rates were unchanged. Foreign exchanges displayed a strong undertone. French francs rallied over 7 points to around 2.87 cents on the announcement that Briand had obtained a promise of collaboration from Poincare in his renewed attempt to place the finances of France on a sound basis. Most of the other European rates rallied in sympathy. Demand sterling was firm around $4.86 3/16.
